Reports Russians At Turk Frontier In Push to Aegean

Other Soviet Forces Reach Point 25 Miles South of East Prussia

LONDON, Sept. 7 (AP).—The German radio said tonight that Russian troops fanning out across Bulgaria in a drive toward the Aegean Sea had reached the area of Demotika, which is inside Greece on the Turkish frontier, while other Soviet forces north of Warsaw had hopped the Narew River at a point only 25 miles south of East Prussia.

Moscow's communique did not even mention Bulgaria, which asked for an armistice after Russia declared war on her Tuesday, nor did it mention the Yugoslav front, where a Rome dispatch said the Russians were flooding into that country after capturing Turnu-Severin, at the foot of the Iron Gate Rapids on the Danube.

The radio report by D.N.B., German propaganda agency, quoted "news from a reliable source" that Soviet motorized forces had crossed into Bulgaria Tuesday at Ruse, opposite the Romanian Danube port of Giurgiu.

One column, D.N.B. said, struck toward Sofia, 156 miles to the southwest, and another headed for the Greek Mediterranean coastline, reaching the Demotika sector, which is 175 miles south of the Danube and only 42 miles from the Aegean Sea.

Demotika, in Grecian Thrace, is 130 miles northwest of the Turkish port of Istanbul on the Bosporus Strait, and a dispatch from Istanbul said that 68 German officers and 300 men at Pythion, only eight miles northwest of Demotika, had fled into Turkey and surrendered to the Turks for internment.

D.N.B. said "no resistance worth mentioning seems to have been put up in Bulgaria," and that the new Government there "is said to have reached an agreement for leaving Bulgarian ground to the Soviets without fighting."

British Reach Coastal Town

Famous Eighth Army Takes Adriatic Port

ROME, Sept. 7 (CP).— British Eighth Army forces today captured Riccione Marian, an Adriatic coastal town five miles southeast of the prize port of Rimini, and American troops of the Fifth Army closed in on the big communications centre of Pistoia and other outposts of the Germans' Gothic Line defences northwest of Florence.

Thus the two armies still were fighting a dogged foe on Italian soil a year after Italy quit the war.

Both of the divisions which landed on the starlit night of Sept. 2-3, 1943—the 1st Canadian and 5th British—were battle-tested veterans of the Sicilian campaign, and when the Italian armistice announcement was made September 8, the Canadians were deep in the mountains, having pressed up the spine of Calabria while the British division moved along the west coast road.

The Fifth Army, meanwhile, met heavy opposition at Salerno, and to relieve the pressure there, as the situation became grave, the Canadians sped north to Potenza.

Today, just a year later, the Fifth Army's American veterans prepared to punch into the best of many defensive lines a resourceful enemy had constructed and lost in this campaign since Italy's capitulation.

In the fortified strongholds of the Northern Apennine Mountains guarding the paths to the Po Valley,

From Europe Day by Day—

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province.

(Copyright, 1944, by Southam Co.)

LONDON, Sept. 7.—The Times' special correspondent with the American forces on the Moselle River says the Germans are resisting strongly there, evidently with the object of allowing their scattered forces to concentrate on the Siegfried Line. The Nazis are fighting back bitterly from good positions.

German resistance is stiffening around Metz and Nancy, and the new German defence line is described as running from Louvain by way of Naumur to Sedan and to the Meuse.

The revolt in Slovakia is rapidly extending, says The Times' diplomatic correspondent. Four German divisions are fighting hard to reopen railways, cut by guerrillas.

The Soviet Union has sent the patriots large quantities of arms, and Britain and United States will shortly follow suit. Officers and men in the Slovak army have deserted their Quisling Government and taken oath of allegiance to the Czecho-Slovak army instead.

In Bratislava, capital of Slovakia, the puppet Government under Tuka has resigned, and a new Government has been formed under Stefan Tiso, a brother of Quisling President Tiso.

For five years the Nazis have treated the Slovaks better than almost any other European people. Yet their answer is immediate revolt once the Russians are nearing their frontier.

The Slovaks are co-operating fully with President Benes' Government in London. Heavy fighting with the Germans inside Slovakia has begun in many areas.

One thousand Czechs have crossed the frontier to assist their neighbors. Political leadership rests with the Slovak National Council, representing all parties and working under general instructions from London.

Editorially, The Times says the revolt extends into the districts the Hungarians seized after the breakup of Czecho-Slovakia. Slovak forces were forced by the Germans to fight for Hitler in Russia.

Peasants were obliged to work as laborers and to lose their crops and livestock to feed Germany. Discontent spread as all hope of prosperity

Karlsruhe Hit In Night Raid

LONDON, Sept. 8 (Friday) (CP).—R.A.F. Mosquito bombers loosed many tons of explosives last night on the Rhineland city of Karlsruhe, important link in the German West Wall, while 100 miles to the west Allied ground forces driving toward the German frontier were locked in violent combat with the Nazis at Metz.

LONDON, Sept. 7 (CP).—French-based fighters and fighter bombers went aloft today in miserable weather that grounded most Allied air might, and heavily attacked retreating Germans trying to jam their way toward Aachen and the homeland through the corridor northeast of Mons.

Flying 700 sorties, the pilots destroyed 483 trucks, 217 horse-drawn vehicles, many armored cars and hundreds of German soldiers.

Believe Quebec Conference Signal War Nearing Close

LONDON, Sept. 7 (AP).—With victory over Germany generally regarded as a matter of weeks, Prime Minister Churchill probably now is holding talks with his ministers preparatory to a "win the peace" conference with President Roosevelt in Quebec.

The conference of the two leaders may be expected to centre on these two matters:

1. Untangling the wreckage left by the Nazis in Europe—including the policing of Germany, division of occupational spheres between the United States, Britain and Russia, and deciding upon the machinery through which liberated countries can choose postwar governments.

2. Curbing the demobilization fever that is sure to rise in the United States and Britain upon the defeat of Germany and before Japan has been finally crushed; the final stamp upon military operations in the Pacific for the last lunge at Japan and consideration of the role the Soviet Union is to play.

With the Presidential campaign underway in the United States and the consequent danger of the conference becoming embroiled in political issues, the feeling among many observers in London was that the meeting must be held outside the United States—probably at Quebec.

The conference comes with military operations in their most satisfactory state of the entire war—and yet with multiple possibilities for disruptions in the diplomatic field.

French and American Armies Driving Towards Belfort Gap Only Free Road for Nazi Forces

Unconfirmed Swiss Reports Claim Allies Within Ten Miles of Fortress

ROME, Sept. 7 (AP).—Powerful United States armored forces from Southern France swept up the Doubs Valley, east of Chalon-Sur-Saone today in a smash that carried within 70 miles of Belfort Gap—the only area along the entire lower German frontier where there are no mountains to protect Germany.

It is through that passageway in the Lowlands between the Vosges range and the Swiss border that the German Nineteenth Army is trying to escape after its crushing defeat in the south. And it is there, too, that the weary enemy must attempt some sort of defensive stand.

A border dispatch to the Lausanne, Switzerland, Gazette Thursday declared that American tanks had entered Montbeliard, only ten miles southwest of the fortress city of Belfort and approximately 40 miles from the German frontier. There was no Allied confirmation.

An air forces announcement said American fighters operating from new bases in Southern France smashed a Nazi motor convoy within 20 miles of the German frontier, destroying at least 30 vehicles. The attack apparently occurred between Belfort and the Rhine.

While United States troops cleaned out the southern edge of the Doubs Valley, seizing the important centre of Pouligny and Arbois, 26 airline miles southwest of Besancon, French forces farther west poured along the upper side of the valley, apparently

Tells Balkans To Quit Axis

Gen. Wilson Warns People to Beware

LONDON, Sept. 7 (CP-Reuter).—General Wilson, Allied Commander in the Mediterranean, broadcast the following special message to the Balkan countries tonight:

The armies of the United Nations are advancing on all fronts.

The Germans are falling back everywhere towards their own formations. Very soon all countries in Europe, including the Balkan countries, will be free.

It is reported to me that some persons and some political organizations in the Balkans are assisting the Germans to escape.

These persons and organizations are also stopping patriots from performing their duties.

The Allies will not be tolerant of such persons or political groups giving assistance to Germans.

Canada and U.S. Will Get Along

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP).—A prediction that "there will be no postwar irritations between Canada and the United States" was made today by Mayor F. H. La Guardia on his return from a two-day visit to Montreal.

The mayor, who attended a meeting of the United States-Canadian Permanent Board on Defence, said he referred to the disposition of property and the acquisition of supplies, equipment and war material.

"We've done a very good job of unscrambling the eggs," he said. "All the formulas have been agreed upon. They should all be easily applied and cleared up when the war is over."

Boy Takes Gun to Show; Wounds Self

SEATTLE, Sept. 7 (AP).—The story of an 11-year-old lad who accidentally shot himself with a stolen revolver in a downtown theatre, made his way undetected from the building, hid the weapon and took a bus to King County Hospital was related by police tonight.

Patrolman George Snyder found the revolver in a bloodstained shoebox behind the theatre almost half an hour before the boy appeared at the hospital. The revolver and a quantity of ammunition had been taken from a home the previous night.

The boy said he was playing with the weapon while watching the show.

Japanese Strike Nearer Big Base

CHUNGKING, Sept. 7 (AP).—Large Japanese forces have closed to within 12 miles of the big United States air base at Lingling and have sent one column in a swift 35-mile surge in an attempt to outflank it on the west.

The Tokio radio, monitored by N.B.C. in New York, claimed the capture of Lingling at daybreak, September 7. There was no confirmation from other sources.

The Chinese High Command said today a "fierce combat" raged 12 miles northeast of Lingling, which the enemy has tried vainly to knock out from the air.

Other Japanese forces showed up 35 miles beyond positions reported last night. They were within 25 miles of Tungan, which guards Lingling's western approaches. Tungan is about 21 miles west of Lingling.

The high command said the Japanese were throwing 250,000 men into the Hunan Province fighting—possibly a liberal estimate—which is designed to knock out the United States air bases, cut China in half, establish overland supply routes and guard against an Allied landing in South China.

Australian Praises Canadians' Effort

BRISBANE, Sept. 7 (CP).—Canada's "sustained war effort" drew editorial praise today from Brisbane's only morning paper, The Courier Mail, which said Australians have "tremendous admiration" for Canada's effort.

"They (Canadians) have given of their men, money and resources," the newspaper added. "Nothing has been spared. For their fighting men there has been a long period of waiting, but when the call came, the Canadian soldiers showed that enforced inactivity had taken nothing from their fighting qualities. They have been in the forefront of the European fighting and they are well in the race to Berlin."

The newspaper mentioned also the Royal Canadian Navy's anti-U-boat fighting, Canada's "enviable record of industrial production" and her $1,000,000,000 free gift to Britain.

"Get Moving, Buddy"—

WITH THE UNITED STATES FIRST ARMY AT MONS, Sept. 7.—A staff major told how Nazi Gen. Carl Wahl was taken by an American corporal. The corporal saw the general and three of his staff in a wooded copse.

The general indignantly said such an officer should be taken prisoner by an Allied officer—not just a corporal.

"Get moving, buddy, or else," said the corporal.

The general and his staff members moved.

German prisoners leave no doubt that the majority believe the war is ending rapidly.

One officer exclaimed:

"I cannot understand. I just cannot understand it. Where are our tanks and Luftwaffe and our commanders? There must be those in Germany who, when they failed in the plot against the Fuehrer, are resting our High Command."

4,000,000 Workers Out When Nazis Quit

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP).—Collapse of Germany will be the signal for eliminating most of the existing rigid controls over utilization of labor forces in the United States, the War Manpower Commission said today.

Called on by the National Labor-Management Policy Committee to prepare now for easing the manpower controls, W.M.C. Chairman Paul V. McNutt assured the advisory group that the more stringent restrictions will be stripped away, leaving only those necessary to help assure the defeat of Japan.

W.M.C. sources predicted that the estimated 4,000,000 workers to be laid off following Germany's defeat will be absorbed into civilian production within three or four months.

Arrest 19 on Gas Coupon Charges

TORONTO, Sept. 7 (CP).—Nineteen Toronto service station operators were arrested today for infractions of the oil control regulations following a series of raids by a squad of Royal Canadian Mounted Police, assisted by city police.

All were arrested on warrants on charges of "depositing counterfeit gasoline coupons in ration bank accounts."

R.C.M.P. predicted further arrests would be made after investigations.

Those arrested were later released on bail of $1,500 each.

Report Germany Has Dropped Pierre Laval

LONDON, Sept. 7 (CP).—The Cairo radio said today Germany had dropped Pierre Laval, Vichy chief of Government, and appointed Fernand de Brinon as chief of the Vichy Government in Belfort. De Brinon was Vichy Secretary of State in the foreign ministry. The Swiss newspaper Der Bund reported earlier Thursday that Laval had reached the German island of Mainau, in Lake Constance, five miles from the Swiss frontier.

German Resistance Stiffens As Allied Forces Approach Reich; Rains Bog Canadians

Secrecy Blanks Movement of British In Netherlands—Sedan Is Captured

LONDON, Sept. 7 (CP).—The United States First Army struck down the high road to Germany tonight and battered to within 16 miles of the Belgian fortress of Liege, while the British Second Army pushed out reconnaissance patrols from Leuven (Louvain) to the vicinity of the Albert Canal.

Fierce resistance was encountered by these armies and the American Third Army in the opening phase of the battle for the German homeland.

The capture of Sedan, historic invasion gateway where the Germans broke through in 1940 to win the Battle of France by outflanking the Maginot Line, was announced officially with the liquidation of an undetermined number of Germans long since by-passed by the First Army.

Secrecy cloaked the push into The Netherlands by the British Second Army.

The Canadian First Army made slight progress in tightening the ring around Boulogne, but a field dispatch said the worst weather in weeks virtually put a stop to the Canadian drive against the Channel ports.

A total of 7,000 prisoners has been taken by the Second Army during the past 48 hours, said a field dispatch from Belgium.

Jonkheer O. C. A. Van Lidth de Jeude, War Minister in the Dutch Government in London, said here that Allied troops were pushing deep into The Netherlands "and the prospects are that very soon the enemy will be expelled from our country," Aneta, Netherlands news agency, reported.

The Second Army rolled up to the Albert Canal—a natural barrier in Northern Belgium—and the Germans rushed in troops from The Netherlands and offered stiff resistance.

The Germans asserted they had wiped out one bridgehead across the canal north of Antwerp.

Field Marshal Montgomery, making a quick trip to Brussels, received a tumultuous welcome from the citizens who were liberated by his ground forces.

The big Belgian city of Ghent, 30 miles northwest of Brussels, was captured by British units.

The British reached Ypres, near where the Canadians of the first Great War made their famous stand against the first enemy gas attacks in April, 1915.

They reached Merville, west of Lille, and Courtral, 17 miles north of Lille, and found the enemy had cleared out.

Ross Munro, Canadian Press war correspondent, said a Polish armored

Allied Armies Now With Tito

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP).—The B.B.C. in a broadcast recorded by C.B.S. said that Marshal Tito's headquarters had announced a successful co-ordination with its Allies, "the Russians on the one side and the Eighth and Fifth Armies on the other," and that his Partisans for six days had been disrupting German troop movements by cutting all railways in Yugoslavia.

The new Allied offensive from the west "coincides with German efforts to transfer some divisions from Greece and Albania to the Romanian front," Tito's announcement was quoted as saying.

Agrees Reich Has Lost War

Nazi General Hopes British Get Control

By JOHN F. CHESTER
Associated Press War Correspondent

A BRITISH ARMY HOSPITAL NEAR LONDON, Sept. 7 (AP).—The latest member of the German General Staff in France to be brought to England says that Germany has lost the war.

There were indications that most of the other members of the German staff felt the same way after the breakfast surprise party given them by British-operated German tanks which reached Amiens ahead of schedule.

Lying on a stretcher on the floor of an ambulance which was taking five of us to a hospital ship, Col. Baron von Gleicher said: "Our hope is that English and American troops reach Germany before the Russians to assume protective control."

During the four-hour ambulance journey, Von Gleicher, until recently commander of a panzer group, also said:

Field Marshal Erwin Rommel definitely is alive, because he had a personal conference with him in a German hospital 10 days before Von Gleicher himself was wounded and captured at Amiens.

Patton Denies He Waved $1,000 Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP).—Lt.-Gen. George S. Patton, of the United States Third Army, takes exception to one story about him. He appended the following note to a recent report on military operations to Chief of Staff Gen. Marshall: "In a clipping which just reached me from home, I saw some correspondent had stated that I arrived in Normandy waving a $1,000 bill and making bets. I arrived in Normandy incognito. I have never seen a $1,000 bill."

U.S. Bombers in Raid on Celebes

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Sept. 8 (Friday) (AP).—In another blistering raid on Celebes, west of New Guinea, Allied heavy bombers smashed 15 Japanese planes Tuesday, headquarters announced today.

At the same time headquarters reported "it is now obvious that the Japanese 6th Air Division has been practically annihilated in its attempted defence of Western New Guinea."

A flying boat, striking for the first time near Zamboanga on Mindanao Island, heavily damaged two Japanese naval auxiliaries off that city during Monday night and Tuesday morning.

Meanwhile a patrol of heavy bombers harassed the often-bombed Davao area.

Safe Berths Essential To Build Port Business

"If we don't do something about it, Victoria faces the danger of losing a large proportion of the shipping business it enjoyed before the war. In those days a large number of freighters completed their cargoes here and several hundred longshoremen were employed," declared Capt. H. R. Robinson, manager of Island Tug & Barge, Ltd., yesterday afternoon.

"Victoria's outer harbor is not popular with masters, and we cannot attract the business and revenue available to us while present conditions continue," he added.

Captain Robinson gave unqualified approval to a proposed west breakwater to prevent damaging swells in the outer harbor. He also urged dredging additional wharves and, if the breakwater proposal were carried through, building up of the wharves at Ogden Point.

He declared "it's the freighters that leave money in port, not the liners." Where big liners provided longshoremen with a few hours on each call, freighters means days of work.

"But if we are to attract freighters in any volume we've got to have safe berths," Captain Robinson asserted. "At present only the breakwater dock, South A, could be regarded as safe. Three other docks, North A and B and South B, were safe only when the water was calm.

"The present breakwater is protection against a southeasterly wind, but it's no good against a southwesterly," he explained. "When a southwesterly is blowing the water in the outer harbor simply boils."

WIND NOT PROBLEM, SWELLS CAUSE DAMAGE

"A west breakwater would not stop the wind, but the wind isn't our problem. It's the swells that cause the damage.

"We've spent thousands of dollars repairing scows that have been battered and holed as a result of heavy swells. We've spent hundreds collecting lumber scattered all over the harbor. We've had as many as seven scows loose at one time. Other companies have had the same experience.

"Each time that happens," Cap-

Two Victoria Cross Awards

LONDON, Sept. 7 (CP).—Award of the Victoria Cross to a British company sergeant-major and an Indian rifleman—the 98th and 99th men to receive the Empire's highest gallantry award in this war—was announced tonight in The London Gazette.

The recipients are C.S.M. Peter Harold Wright, of Wennastom, Suffolk, England, and Rifmn. Ganju Lama, of the Seventh Gurkha Rifles.

Wright gained the award for leading his officerless company against a hill at Salerno, Italy, September 25, 1943, when he silenced three machine-gun posts single-handed with hand grenades and, when the hill was captured, went back under heavy shelling and machine-gun fire to bring up extra ammunition.

Wright, a member of the Coldstream Guards, was given the immediate award of Distinguished Conduct Medal, the highest award a general officer commanding may bestow on his own initiative. The citation later was forwarded to the War Office where the recommendation for a higher decoration was approved and the V.C. was substituted for the medal, a procedure believed unprecedented.

Ganju Lama, although wounded three times, crawled forward to repulse a Japanese attack in Burma. He knocked out two of three enemy tanks with his Piat gun, an anti-tank rocket gun and a regular anti-tank gun got the third tank. Then he killed or wounded the crew of all the tanks with hand grenades before returning to have his wounds dressed.

Japs Riot, 231 Dead at Camp

LONDON, Sept. 7 (CP).—Two hundred and thirty-one Japanese prisoners of war were killed and 108 wounded in a mutiny in an Australian camp, August 5, it was disclosed tonight in a statement issued here from Prime Minister Curtin of Australia.

The Japanese, armed with mess knives and baseball bats, rose against the guards in the early hours of August 5. All but a few who escaped were rounded up by nightfall.

Of the dead, 26 committed suicide by hanging or strangulation, nine by stabbing, five from other self-inflicted wounds and two threw themselves under a train. The statement said that 16 of the wounded also showed evidence of attempted suicide.

Australian casualties were light, but one officer was murdered by a party of Japanese during a search for the fugitives.

About 900 Japanese took part in the mutiny. Eighteen of 20 sleeping huts and two administration buildings were destroyed by fire and inside were found a dozen Japanese bodies.

Close 162 Schools Short of Teachers

WINNIPEG, Sept. 7 (CP).—A serious shortage of teachers in the Prairie Provinces has left 162 rural schools closed in Manitoba and Saskatchewan where schools opened this week, a survey of Provincial Education Departments showed tonight. Alberta schools are scheduled to open October 2.

In Manitoba 100 schools were reported closed due to the shortage, while in Saskatchewan 62 schools were closed. Each province needed about 100 teachers.

Education Departments in all three provinces have appealed for consolidation of smaller school districts, the pupils to attend adjacent, larger schools.

93 at Portland

PORTLAND, Sept. 7 (AP).—The thermometer shot up in Oregon again today, with 100 readings reported from Medford and Arlington. Portland's peak was 93.

Some Washington cities topped the Oregon heat recordings. In Walla Walla it was 101 and at Pasco 102. In Lewiston, Ida., the temperature dropped to 90 and in Boise the high was 93.

The weather bureau predicted hotter weather over the week-end.

LITTLE CHANGE ON CANADIAN SECTOR

WITH THE CANADIANS ON THE ADRIATIC FRONT, Sept. 7 (CP).—The British Eighth Army's front along the Adriatic showed little change tonight after a day and night of continuous artillery activity.

The front is shaped like an inverted "V" with the apex blunted, and the right arm lying along the Adriatic.

British efforts to swing back the left arm of the "V" were bitterly resisted by the enemy. A dozen towns and villages along its length from Coriano to San Savino, respectively six and eight miles south of Rimini, changed hands at least once and some as many as three times.

Almost every artillery piece the Eighth Army possesses, including Canadian batteries, was devoted to hammering this ridge running north and south which the Germans have strongly fortified and which is holding up the Allied march into the Lombardy Plains.

Every minute and every second during the last 24 hours has throbbed to the thunderous blast of mighty artillery exchanges.

The Canadian forces meanwhile are sitting tight, waiting for the left flank to pull up. They have been actively patrolling along their own front to the line of the River Marano.

The respite is giving Canadian regiments not committed to the line an unexpected chance for swimming and surf-boating in the Adriatic. This break is appreciated by the troops, after the punishing grind of marching and fighting across difficult and hilly country from the Metauro River across the Foglia and through Gothic Line positions to the Adriatic shores.

Report American Divisions in China

LONDON, Sept. 7 (CP).—The Berlin radio broadcast a D.N.B. Shanghai report today that 30,000 American troops are now in Free China, and "at least three American divisions have taken up positions along the Hengyang front." The broadcast said the Americans joined Chinese troops deployed on a 50-mile arc east, south and west of Hengyang, where Japanese attacks "are threatening American airfields as well as Chinese positions."

MAY BE ABLE TO HOLD

MONTREAL, Sept. 7 (CP) — The characteristics of the Dutch countryside in the western provinces are such that the Nazis may be able to hold out there for some time, the Netherlands Government information bureau said today in a press release. However, in the southern provinces of Brabant and Limburg and the eastern provinces of Gelderland and Overijssel the soil is sandy and the country flat so that mechanized columns can move practically at will.

Name Dr. Frigon C.B.C. Manager

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP).—Dr. Augustin Frigon, acting general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, has been appointed general manager of the corporation, War Services Minister LaFleche announced today.

Gen. LaFleche also announced that Donald Manson, chief executive assistant of the C.B.C. and secretary of the C.B.C. board of governors, has been appointed assistant general manager and that Ernest Bushnell, supervisor of programmes, has been promoted to the post of director of programmes.

Dr. Frigon had held the post of acting general manager since last November when Dr. James Thomson, president of the University of Saskatchewan, resigned as general manager to return to the university. Dr. Thomson had held the general managership for one year.

Dr. Frigon was assistant general manager at the time he was appointed to replace Dr. Thomson. The post of assistant general manager had remained vacant since that time.

to prevent any Germans reaching the flatlands escape route.

After rolling 75 miles in 72 hours through the one-time submarine building base of Chalon-sur-Saone without getting a shot at the retreating enemy, the French thrust on some 12 miles through Allerey.

TOULON AND MARSEILLE COST NAZIS HEAVILY

WITH FRENCH FORCES IN SOUTHERN FRANCE, Sept. 7 (AP).—Now that Marseille and Toulon are 200 miles behind the Allied vanguards, it may be disclosed how outnumbered French troops—forced to attack the fiercely defended seaport areas before they were ready—killed or captured 52,500 Germans in cleaning up the region at a cost of about 1,000 casualties.

Although half his forces still were not ashore, Gen. Jean de Lattre de Tassigny, commander of the French Army in Southern France, brilliantly directed the attacks which made available badly needed harbors to supply forces driving north. In doing so, he wrote off seven variously constituted enemy divisions and four German generals.

The original plan was to assault the port area six days after "D" Day, but spies brought information that the Germans had densely mined Toulon and Marseille and planned to destroy the cities and then take up defensive positions in forts outside the towns.

Gen. de Lattre de Tassigny ordered an assault one day before schedule in order to cut off the German garrisons in both places and at nearby Rivers, before they could join other German forces in a stout defence.

It worked according to plan, but some of the most bitter fighting of the whole campaign resulted. When the shooting stilled, 15,000 Germans were dead and 8,500 were in prison cages.

The bold attack ahead of schedule caught only half the Germans ready in prepared positions for the six-day battle.

Government Selling Civilian Type Trucks

MONTREAL, Sept. 7 (CP).—War Assets Corporation, the Government corporation set up to dispose of surplus war assets, is selling 66 used civilian-type trucks in Winnipeg, it was announced here by J. B. Carswell, president of the corporation.

Mr. Carswell said the sales were confined to civilian-type trucks and that similar sales had already been held at Kingston, Ont.; London, Ont.; Debert, N.S.; Calgary and Regina. He added that further sales would be held at Toronto, Montreal, Quebec and Vancouver.

Of 8,000 Robot Bombs Aimed At London 2,300 Got Through

Pickaback Bombs Chief Danger Now

LONDON, Sept. 7 (CP).—British secrecy surrounding the German flying bomb was ended today with disclosure of details of the 18-month battle against the terror weapons—8,000 of which have been fired at the Greater London area since June 13.

About 2,300 of the 8,000 got through, causing more than 5,000 deaths.

It is unlikely that the final casualties and damage from the robot bombardment will be disclosed prior to the reassembling of Parliament, September 26.

Lt.-Col. Edwin Duncan Sandys, who as chairman of the War Cabinet Committee was in charge of counter-measures against Hitler's secret weapon, told a press conference:

"Except possibly for the last few shots, the Battle of London is over."

The defence afforded by the balloon barrage, anti-aircraft guns and fighters was perfected to such a high degree that 97 of 101 bombs fired at England, August 28, were shot down, he said.

This, coupled with the Allied encirclement of the robot bomb coast, has ended all but the threat of robots launched from planes—carried pickaback style on Heinkel-111's.

SCALE OF ATTACK WILL BE VERY SMALL

"This form of attack can, of course, be carried on from airfields in the heart of Germany," he said. "We cannot therefore as yet assure the public that the flying-bomb attacks will cease altogether. We can, however, be reasonably confident that the scale of attack will be very small."

Col. Sandys, a son-in-law of Prime Minister Churchill, disclosed 2,900 Allied airmen and 450 planes had been lost in the 18-month campaign against the robots. In addition to more than 5,000 deaths in England as a result of the bombs that landed, [illegible] bombs launched since June 13 had reached their goal whereas the earlier bombs each took a life, on the average. The campaign against them made such progress that lately an average of three of the robots have been expended by the Germans to kill one person in Britain.

The campaign against the robots began more than a year before the actual launching of the attacks in June, with Allied airmen blasting away at the "rocket coast" across the Channel where the Germans located launching platforms.

The figures announced today were the latest since August 24, when the Government disclosed that the Germans had sent about 7,280 winged bombers against Southern England.

It was unlikely that the final casualties and damage from the bombardment will be disclosed before Parliament reconvenes September 26.

Some of the newsmen at Col. Sandys' press conference brought away the impression that the Allied advance along the French coast had knocked out the Germans' V-3, reputedly a much heavier rocket bomb than the V-1 launched against London, before it could be used.

"I am a little chary of talking about V-2," Sandys said. "We do know quite a lot about it. In a very few days' time I feel that the press will be walking all over these places in France and will know a great deal more then than we do now."

Has Lost War

Field Marshal Gunther von Kluge died of a heart attack on a train near Metz after he had been relieved of his command because of the failure and subsequent destruction of his Tenth Army.

MORE GENERALS TAKEN AT MONS

WITH THE UNITED STATES ARMY AT MONS, Sept. 7 (CP-Reuter's).—More than 17,000 German prisoners, including three generals, have been taken around this town which will never be forgotten when there is talk of battles.

More prisoners still are coming through its cobbled streets, and not far away on the road to Mauberge are at least 1,000 German dead in the small triangle the sides of which are only about a mile long.

The prisoners and dead are the result of a perfect plan between the British and United States forces.

As the shattered and confused remnants of the German Army scrambled back for the Siegfried Line, the British forces drove them south, but American troops at the same time surged forward to meet them while other American forces in a greater eastern sweep made the steel ring complete.

Small, but equally formidable sections in the ring were held by men of the Belgian forces of the interior.

Weird and remarkable stories can be told of the speed and precise timing of the Allied engulfing ring, making it possible for a few men to take hundreds of prisoners.

Germany Too Weak For Long Defence

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP).—Secretary of War Stimson believes that Germany has "insufficient strength for the task of prolonged defence" of the Reich.

He expressed this somewhat cautious prediction of early victory at a news conference today in which he said that:

"The great bulk of the German Army in Western Europe has been destroyed or crippled."

A great part of the German forces in France are "bewildered and without much hope."

More than 300,000 German prisoners have been taken in France.

To this summary of good news, however, Stimson attached a cautionary comment.

German Army discipline is holding up and we must still test out the product of the last desperate mobilization efforts of the Nazi Government."

Concerning American Army casualties, Stimson said the total for the first three weeks of the fighting in France was 42,000, about half as many as had been expected.

Without giving figures, Stimson said that during July and August, when the American forces moved out from the peninsula beachheads into the mainland, casualties were "slightly less than the estimates."

His latest overall casualties were "slightly less than the estimates."

His latest overall casualty report showed that army casualties from Pearl Harbor through August 21, based on reports up to that date, totaled 305,795, of whom 57,677 were killed. Navy casualties reported so far amount to 59,964, with 23,925 killed.

Shoots Down 60 Nazi Robot Bombs

LONDON, Sept. 7 (CP).—Highest scoring robot bomb fighter is Sqdn. Ldr. Joseph Berry, who brought down 60 during the Battle of London, the Air Ministry announced tonight as robot censorship restrictions were lifted. Berry, 24, began his patrols June 28 and all his kills were accomplished in a swift Tempest fighter plane, some details of which are still secret.

Warns Against German Cartels

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP).—Germany may win the peace, United States Assistant Attorney-General Wendell Berge told Senators today, unless she is prevented from gaining trade monopolies through the cartel system.

The chief of the Justice Department's anti-trust division testified before a military affairs sub-committee that international trade agreements such as he said existed between Carl Zeiss, of Jena, Germany, and the Bausch & Lomb Optical Company, of Rochester, N.Y., enabled Germany "to sabotage" the effectiveness of the Versailles Treaty and added:

"As the military defeat of Germany grows near, we will see a determined effort on the part of the Germans to save their industrial power. The Germans know that their best chance of preparing for another war will be through the maintenance of their monopolistic industrial firms.

"These firms have had agreements with British and American industry. If these agreements can be continued, revived, or renewed in the future, this country can win the war, but Germany will have gone far towards the winning of the peace.

"During the next few months, we must be prepared to witness the exodus from Germany of political agents who will announce that they are ordinary business men and that they are ready to resume ordinary commercial relations with us as soon as the Nazis are thrown out of power."

Berge, in a prepared statement, said that an agreement between Zeiss and Bausch-Lomb resulted in action being taken in 1921 "to nullify the provisions of the Versailles Treaty which prohibited Germany from large-scale manufacturing of military equipment," and caused Zeiss patents to be taken out in the United States under the name of Bausch & Lomb, "thus giving an appearance of American ownership and consequent protection against seizure by an alien property custodian."

He said "secret United States military information was given by Bausch & Lomb to Germans not only before, but after Hitler came into power."

As protection against future German cartel agreements, Berge recommended the acquiring of German patents and "technological know-how," making German laboratory work available to firms on a general basis, breaking up existing German monopolies, and moving some firms out of Germany and internationalizing their laboratories."

Identify Admirals Reported Killed

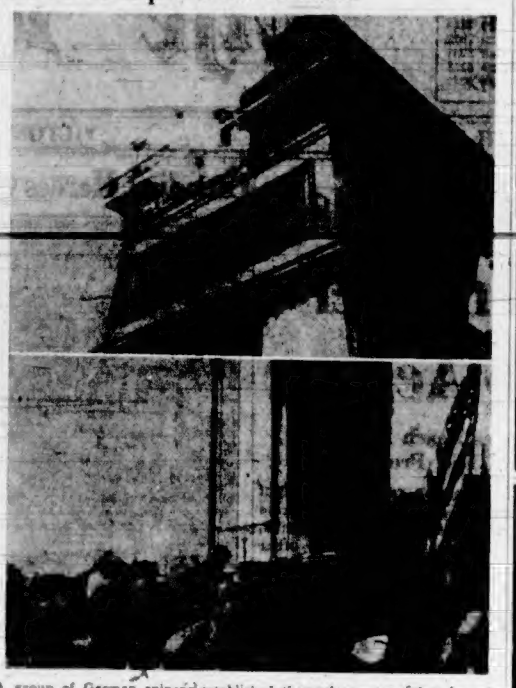
NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP).—The identity of the six Japanese admirals whose death was announced yesterday by the Japanese Domei News Agency was disclosed today in a Tokio broadcast reported by the Federal Communications Commission.

The broadcast said the Yokosuka naval station announced that the following officers had "died in action at the front": Vice Admiral Matsuji Ishiuin, and Rear Admirals Ryuzo Wakatuki, Jorei Wakizaka, Suetada Ikegawa and Fumo Kitamura.

Rear Admiral Kuranosuke Yanagizawa had "died from illness contracted at the front," the broadcast added.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (CP). — A resolution to put Congress on record in favor of worldwide freedom of news exchange "to promote better understanding among nations and thus help prevent future wars," was offered in the House of Representatives today by Representative J. W. Fulbright (Dem., Ark.).

Arc de Triomphe Scene of Battle



A group of German snipers established themselves atop the Arc de Triomphe in Paris, and when the parade of liberation neared they opened fire on the crowds below with machine guns. Smoke of their fire shows in the upper photograph. American soldiers, immediately below, took shelter behind their vehicles, as shown in lower photograph, plumped lead into the snipers and soon had them liquidated.

Australian Taxpayers to Deduct Medical and Dental Expenditures

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 7 (CP).—Surprises were lacking in the Australian budget introduced today by J. B. Chifley, Commonwealth Treasurer, although some concessions for medical expenses were made in connection with income tax.

Total revenue was estimated at £358,000,000 (about $1,163,000,000) and expenditure at £686,000,000 (about $2,295,000,000). The latter figure includes £505,000,000 for war expenditure, a drop of $39,000,000 from last year's figure.

The decrease in war costs is due to the smaller need for capital for war works and the decision announced recently to reduce the strength of the fighting services. Of the war expenditure figure, £462,000,000 will be expended in Australia and £53,000,000 overseas.

Total yield from taxation is estimated at £226,000,000.

The income tax rate was unchanged in the budget, but family men are allowed to deduct from gross income sums up to £60 for medical costs for each member of the family and this total may include up to £10 a head for dental costs. The only other tax concessions are for factory maintenance.

Total taxation remissions to the ordinary taxpayer as a result of the budget are estimated to be £1,165,000, including £365,000 for medical and dental rebates, £300,000 in rebates for children at school up to the age of 16, and £500,000 by remission of sales tax on building materials.

Mr. Chifley said Australia's aggregate public debt at the end of June, 1944, amounted to £2,367,000,000, an increase of £369,000,000 since a year previously. During the year 31 per cent of war expenditure was financed from revenue, compared with 28 per cent during the previous year.

Australia raised during the year £60,000,000 by Treasury bills and £43,000,000 by use of Treasury balances, in addition to £265,000,000 in loans and War Savings Certificates.

Japanese Shift Tactics in China

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP).—Japanese military tactics have shifted menacingly in China, and speculation has arisen as to whether the Japanese hope thereby to stir up internal trouble for Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Central Government.

Apparently abandoning their attempt to capture the Hankow-Canton railway, the Japanese have swung southwestward from captured Hengyang in Central China and are driving toward the Kwangsi provincial capital of Kweilin. Kweilin is also menaced from the south by a drive recently started up from the Lichow Peninsula near Hainan Island.

Fighting along the Canton-Hankow railway appears to have died down. The Japanese shift to the west, if successful, not only would cut China in two and isolate American bases in East China, as the Japanese originally intended, but would place their air forces and troops much nearer the main American air bases in West China.

The Japanese obviously are racing against the time when the Burma Road will be reopened to China and American supplies and forces can pour in overland as well as by air.

Recent reports mention the presence of Lt.-Gen. Kenji Doihara, Japan's arch political trouble-maker in China for a generation—a fact which lends color to the suspicion expressed here that the Japanese shift aims at sowing political discord among regional Chinese leaders.

The Kwangsi war lords, Generals Pai Chung-Hsi and Li Tsung-Jen, are mentioned in recent rumors of a dissident group of Chinese militarists who are said to advocate a more vigorous prosecution of the war than Chiang Kai-Shek has been pursuing. Also mentioned in this group is the former Manchurian war lord, Chang Hsueh-Liang, who kidnapped Chiang Kai-Shek in 1936.

Heads Tourist Body

JASPER, Alta., Sept. 7 (CP).—E. T. Tradel, of Jasper, today was elected president of the newly-organized North and Central Alberta-British Columbia Development Association. The association will deal with post-war tourist traffic and plans to work closely with the Turgeon committee of the House of Commons on reconstruction and repatriation.

S. J. Smith, of Kamloops, was named vice-president, O. C. Olsen, of Jasper, secretary-treasurer, and Charles H. Grant, of Edmonton, counsel. Meetings will be held twice a year, and Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce in the Peace River district will be invited to join.

A resolution asking the Dominion Government, as a postwar rehabilitation measure, to support the Western provinces' recommendation for construction of a dustless all-weather road connecting the Evergreen Trail with the Trans-Canada and Alaska Highway, was passed by the association.

Says Roosevelt "Afraid of Peace"

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7 (AP).—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey plunged tonight into the active phase of his battle for the Presidency of the United States with a declaration that the New Deal administration is "afraid of peace" because "they are afraid of a continuance of their own failure to get this country going again."

"The administration knows that the war, with all its tragic toll of death, debt and destruction, is the only thing that saved it," he said in a prepared address. "They are deadly afraid that they will go back to the resumption of their own failures. That is why they are afraid to let men out of the army. That is why they say it is cheaper to keep men in the army than to let them come home."

The Republican Presidential nominee opened his speaking campaign in Philadelphia amid all the political fanfare that ordinarily characterizes a peacetime election year.

Beginning with a ticker-tape parade through downtown streets, Mr. Dewey and his retinue set out on a round of conferences, meetings and receptions that wound up in Convention Hall for the first of a series of major speeches.

Repeatedly he lashed out at the Roosevelt regime as a "tired, exhausted, quarrelling and bickering administration." He played on the theme that its replacement by a "fresh and vigorous" Government would mean an early return of servicemen from overseas, when the war is won, and a revival of prosperity through free enterprise.

Admits Isolation Of German Troops

LONDON, Sept. 7 (CP-Reuter's).—Capt. Ludwig Bertorius, military correspondent of the German Transocean Agency, admitted tonight that "German troops are now isolated following the British breakthrough to Antwerp and the Channel and Flanders Coasts."

Bertorius claimed that the German High Command "has succeeded in stopping the enemy for the time being at least on the Meuse and the Moselle."

Germany to Use Grade VIII Pupils

LONDON, Sept. 7 (CP).—Germany today ordered its eighth grade pupils into war work and sent thousands of Red Cross men and women into armament plants in far-reaching extensions of total mobilization decrees.

Joseph Goebbels, German plenipotentiary for total mobilization, announced also the dissolution of the Prussian Finance Ministry, the wholesale curtailment of "the majority of 1,500 periodicals still published in Germany," and the closing of a number of universities.

All traveling shows and shops for fairs were abolished.

The Berlin radio, announcing the decrees, said most German students would "have to give up studying in order to do important war work and from now on, only war wounded will be allowed to begin study at universities."

division of Lt.-Gen. Crerar's army also reached Ypres, driving eastward from St. Omer.

Canadian Army forces made no further penetration into Calais, but they had Boulogne and Calais cut off. The Canadians struck to the outskirts of Gravelines, 14 miles east of Calais and midway between Calais and Dunkerque.

While the American Third Army on the southwest sector of the 130-mile front before Germany was suffering its first setback since the Normandy break-through, the First Army planted its standard across the Meuse River 37 miles southwest of the German frontier.

Tanks and infantry pressed through the dense western half of the Ardennes Forest—considered an impenetrable military barrier until the Germans forced it—reaching a plateau in the centre.

The bridgehead on the Meuse menacing Liege was established at the town of Huy midway between the city and Namur, 32 miles southwest of Liege, Associated Press Correspondent Don Whitehead reported from the front.

More than 100 miles to the southeast, the Third Army plunged into the great Lorraine Province city of Metz despite heavy artillery fire and threw two firm bridgeheads across the Moselle River to the south. One was in the Toul area west of Nancy; the other was not specifically located in front dispatches.

Bar-sur-Pont-a-Mousson, about midway between Metz and Nancy, American forces who crossed the Moselle under the muzzles of German artillery in the hills were driven back to the west bank in sanguinary fighting, and the Germans inflicted considerable losses as the battle rose in fury.

Assault forces, however, were brought up to the river north of Metz, some 20 miles from the Saar border, to face enemy troops bent on defending to the last the thin buffer zone before Germany.

Youbou Fire Travels Fast

Four hundred men in two 12-hour shifts are fighting a bush fire near Youbou, Cowichan Lake, which has traveled about three miles west along the north shore of the lake. The sawmill of Industrial Timber Mills Limited and homes in the settlement were reported last night to be not in danger.

A company spokesman said at 11 o'clock last night that the fire would be under control if the wind did not change. There was no shortage of water. The watershed on the hill on which the fire was raging was being protected, he said.

Company officials were directing the fire fighters in co-operation with Forest Service workers.

Four portable pumps, 7,700 feet of hose and other fire-fighting equipment borrowed from the Victoria Civil Defence organization, were rushed yesterday to Youbou by the Forest Service.

The Youbou fire, beginning at noon on Tuesday, at one time threatened some homes at the edge of the settlement. The sawmill has been closed to free men to fight the fire and volunteers have come from many other points.

Youbou's population is about 1,000.

Lack of reports from other Vancouver Island and Lower Mainland fires led Forest Branch officials to the belief that conditions were little changed and that no serious difficulties were being encountered.

Kamloops reported the largest new outbreak, a 600-acre fire burning on Bromley Creek, Princeton district. Weather conditions in Kamloops Forest District were hazardous.

Nelson had five small fires. Prince George district reported conditions were unchanged.

Forest Branch officials repeated their warning to hunters, campers and picnickers going out this week-end that an extreme hazard existed and that every precaution against fire should be exercised. The weather forecast gave no hope of general rain to ease the hazard, though local drizzles were anticipated at some points.

Veteran Colonel Dies

Funeral service for the late Col. Arthur Panet, 67, member of a well-known Canadian military family, who died at his Shawnigan Lake home on Wednesday, will be held at St. Francis Xavier Church, Mill Bay, on Saturday.

A permanent force soldier most of his life, Colonel Panet served with the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps for 35 years before retiring in 1935, and had been stationed in various parts of Canada. He was in Halifax when the explosion occurred during the last war.

He leaves his wife, Marjorie Wilson Panet, and one son, Brig.-Gen. A. E. Panet, Crowthorne, Berkshire, England. Maj.-Gen. A. J. Panet and Col. C. M. Panet, of Ottawa, and Maj.-Gen. E. de B. Panet, Montreal, are brothers.

He was the son-in-law of Mrs. H. C. Wilson, Beach Drive.

When the Lights Go On

"Tonight the lights have gone out over Europe and they will not be lighted again in our time." This gloomy statement of Sir Edward Grey on the eve of the last war was spiritually verified, for even following the war there was a time of uneasiness and foreboding lasting till the present conflict began, and while the dawn is brightening we are still not entirely out of the gloom. But the people of Britain at least have reason to rejoice over the immediate prospect of release from the physical blackout that has darkened their nights for five years past.

"When the lights go on again" will be a joyful song, and especially to the people of London, who have been the heaviest sufferers. In Victoria we can recall what it meant to have only three nights of total blackout after Pearl Harbor. Even for that brief time it was by no means pleasant to grope around the streets at night. It was so easy to lose the way, to stumble over kerbs and obstacles, and the risk of serious accident was such that all were glad when the temporary darkness was removed. Still, it was less the physical inconvenience than the psychological effect of the prevailing gloom that was depressing. If we stretch out those three nights into five long years, one can imagine what the people of Britain have endured. Not only were the streets in darkness and the hazards of traffic deadly, but there must have been much that was funereal and depressing in the dark hangings and shutters that enclosed their little areas of light.

There can be no finer evidence of the spirit of the British people than the cheerfulness with which they have borne this long privation. It justifies Emerson's eulogy of the land: "She sees a little better on a cloudy day, and in storm of battle and calamity she has a secret vigor and a pulse like a cannon." Stormed at throughout these years by airplanes and bombs, the spirit of the people has never wilted. Driven into underground tunnels and shelters they have borne it all cheerfully, and have even found humor in their discomforts.

The robot and the time bomb can never bring such people to their knees. With the mastery of the Calais coast the dark nights are almost ended, and it will appear to them as the dawn of a glorious era when the lights go on again.

The Churchill Tanks

The latest addition to the Churchill tank is reported to be a flame thrower that will blaze a path before its advance. This would seem to be symbolic of the man after whom it is named, since he has been throwing around him a flame of inspiration and courage ever since the war began. It is, indeed, quite fitting that a tank should bear his name, since in the last war he advocated their use long before they were tried in actual service, and even when a first trial resulted in partial failure he was still unweary in his advocacy. He was rewarded by seeing them in more effective use before the war ended, and has been justified by their wide employment in the present conflict.

He may well be pardoned a little proud persiflage when, speaking recently in the House of Commons, he described "the notorious Churchill tank as the most thick-skinned in Europe," and said also "it can either be offensive or defensive" and "it is coming into its own."

While the steel tank is a recent development it is a survival of very old forms of warfare. The "towers" and "tortoises" used by the Greeks and Romans in sieges were the modern tanks in embryo. They consisted of wooden structures on wheels bearing rams and catapults to batter down the walls of cities. Strips of wood covered with hides were their shield against missiles thrown down on them from the city walls. With persistent use they proved terribly effective in breaching the enemy's defences. But with the introduction of gunpowder these primitive battering rams were blown out of existence.

It took centuries before anything of the kind could be devised to stand against rifle and artillery fire. It is recorded that attempts were made to construct iron tanks before the American Civil War, but steam as a motor power was too clumsy and ineffective, especially as it meant carrying along water and coal. The iron of the day had also to be of such thickness that the weight crippled the movement of the tank.

The advent of the internal combustion engine gave rise to new efforts to construct a tank that would be of real service. These designers have been further aided by the fabrication of new forms of steel so that a comparatively light plate will turn back any ordinary bullet. So we have the tank of today. They are said to have been given their name because they looked so much like water carriers. Whatever their form they have wrought a revolution in modern warfare.

Finland Is Out

The brief heading, "Finland Quits War," is only the realization of something that has been expected for some months. With the drive of Russian arms through the Baltic States, and penetration of Finland as far as Vipuri, the condition of the small nation was hopeless. Finland probably only remained in the war as long as it did because of the pressure of German forces in its territory, but as Allied victories eased the situation peace overtures followed. It seems like the irony of justice that Marshal Mannerheim, long suspected of German sympathy and co-operation, should have been head of the Government that negotiated the final surrender; but Mannerheim is an able military leader and he realized the situation.

In the Finnish war with Russia outside sympathy went naturally to the smaller nation making so desperate a struggle against a giant adversary. Looking back on it now there appears to have been considerable justification for the Russian attitude. Faced with a Finnish boundary within 20 miles of Leningrad, with Finnish bases that could point guns at the naval base of Kronstadt across the Gulf, Russia demanded that the boundary be removed to at least eighty miles away, and offered territory in exchange for that which must be ceded. There can be little doubt now that, in spite of the non-aggression pact, Russia still regarded Germany as a potential enemy that might make use of Finnish bases, and was taking steps in advance. Anyhow, negotiations failed and war followed.

The story of that war is still fresh in the public mind. The Finns, a hardy and courageous people, fought desperately, but were finally overpowered by Russia's vastly superior strength. Russia's peace terms were by no means as harsh as those Germany would certainly have imposed in her place. She could have taken the whole of Finland. She contented herself with strips of territory considered necessary for future defence. The Finns, as stout adversaries, can also be converted into faithful friends, and it is to be hoped that in future they will dwell peacefully side by side with their great neighbor.

The Reign of Terror

Except that he is more evil and a greater threat to mankind, Hitler might be termed the Robespierre of his age. Like his French protagonist, the dictator of the Revolution, he has been thrown to the top by the passions of his time. Robespierre had probably the better education, but both have been tinged with the paranoiac mind. Each was a single track thinker, discarding everything but the one goal in view. Robespierre had the vision of a new Heaven and Earth to be established when all vestiges of the old order had been knifed away. Hitler has also his vision of a new order, but it was to be one founded on military strength and directed by Germany alone. It was to usher in an era of "freedom of the soul" in a society in which there would be no freedom of body or mind.

Another distinction between the two fanatics is that while Hitler stirs the passions with hysterical oratory, Robespierre spoke in flat and level tones, but by persistent repetition he drove his points home. Carlyle nicknamed him "the sea-green incorruptible" from the peculiar color of his face. Had he seen Hitler's pasty-features he might have styled him "the liver-faced maniac." Robespierre controlled nerves like an aspen with a will of iron; Hitler shrieks like a hysterical woman.

The time came, as it inevitably will with such tyrants, when the friends of both men began to turn against them. Then came the purges. Both men surrounded themselves with Committees of Public Safety. Instead of Marat, St. Just and Fouquier Tinville, Hitler has Himmler, Goering and Goebbels, but their methods are not so dissimilar. The one sent his enemies to the guillotine, the other dispatches them either to be beheaded or shot.

But the reign of terror always recoils at last on the tyrants. Robespierre, wounded and shrinking in the cart, was driven to the guillotine amid the execrations of the populace, and with the cry "The blood of Danton is upon you" ringing in his ears. Soon it will be Hitler's turn. Such a man may anticipate his doom by suicide, but should it be his lot to be led to public execution one can imagine how truly it might be said that the blood of millions is upon his head.

Seen in Passing

It was Carlyle who once warned that "the schoolmaster is abroad." It is not likely he meant that the dominie had emigrated to other countries, but rather that his activities were dispersed. Anyhow, we are thankful that the schoolmaster and the schoolmistress, too, are still working here at home.

The Happiest Heart

Who drives the horses of the sun
Shall lord it for a day;
Better the lowly deed were done
And kept the quiet way.

The rust will find the sword of fame,
The dust will hide the crown;
Ay, none can nail his name so high
Time will not tear it down.

The happiest heart that ever beat
Was in some quiet breast
That found the common daylight sweet
And left to Heaven the rest.

And make my seated heart knock at my ribs
Against the use of Nature. Present fears
Are less than horrible imaginings.

Hitler Has Few Weapons Left

By COL. FREDERICK PALMER
North American Newspaper Alliance

What further resources of resistance has Germany to stop the invasion tide in fighting to defend her own soil on her western frontier?

Poison gas?

If so, General Eisenhower's armies are prepared to meet any action along this line, both defensively and offensively. We can produce more, and defend our sources of production, while Germany's plants would be subject to our bombing, which would scatter her gas for home consumption, thereby causing German instead of Allied casualties.

Robot bombs?

Their inaccuracy eliminates their value against a mobile mechanized offensive. They have some chance of hitting a big target, such as a city, but an infinitesimal one of hitting an armored or infantry division.

ROBOTS WERE NO SECRET

As a secret weapon the robot bomb, both the V-1 and its brother, V-2, which remains a threat as yet, were no secret to the Allied staffs. We can make them, too. But they could be of no use in their present stage of development in our speedy offensive, which has liberated France and Belgium, while our guns and tanks are in hot pursuit of the enemy under cover of our vastly superior air power.

Other undisclosed German secret weapons?

Hitler has been promising them for the last five years, but no highly effective new German weapon has yet taken us by surprise. If Hitler has one, he is late in springing it. Goebbels is reported as explaining that it is not quite ready yet. That will doubtless be the trouble with it when the Allies capture it.

Hitler's only hope now of a strong stand to prolong the war is to withdraw his forces altogether to the east side of the Rhine and utilize the portion of the German West Wall, or Siegfried Line, on the east side. This might give him a little time to muster any available forces to dig in for last-ditch defence. Meanwhile, we would be bringing up our line of communications and be preparing to cross the Rhine, but that would not take us very long, once we have the ports of Le Havre, Antwerp and Rotterdam.

CAN CONCENTRATE OVERWHELMING POWER

Such a stand in fortified positions has the advantage of calling for far less motor gas than does motorized offensives. But we can concentrate overwhelming bombing power on production and transport of material for the defence. The defence would be preponderantly limited to an infantryman's and gunner's job of the First World War kind.

The only way Hitler could muster enough reserves—unless he has them concealed as his real secret weapon—to man a length of line, which cannot be readily turned, is to withdraw them from his collapsing Eastern front.

But they have already had the heart shot and bombed out of them and they would not fight so well in the West as in the East, for it has become evident that they would prefer to be taken prisoner by British or Americans than by the Russians and to see us, rather than the Russians, capture Berlin. And unless Hitler can make something of a stand on the West Wall we might continue at such a fast pace we should be in Berlin before the Russians.

Playing a piano by ear is quite an accomplishment, but a boy who lives near us is even more clever. Judging by the sounds, he uses his feet on the keyboard . . . Tourist traffic from Victoria to Seattle showed an increase of 250 per cent during July . . . General Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service, made the following announcement: "I am opposed to letting out the man who is nearest home, as we did in the last war. I also oppose releasing men on the basis of occupation. The man entitled to go home first is the man with the longest service and with combat experience" . . . The terms "buzz bomb," "robot bomb" and "doodlebug" are unknown in England, according to a war veteran. He said citizens usually spoke of "p-planes," short for pilotless planes. Better still is the term "flying bomb" . . . Life says of Italy: "Rome was dominated for four years and ruled for nine months by the Germans. The contemptuous arrogance and cruelty of the Nazis cured all Italians of the illusion that they might be treated as equals by the 'master race.' They feel now that by their alliance with Germany they achieved only defeat and contempt of the world. They are ashamed when they speak of their attack on France, the 'stab in the back' during France's darkest hour. They know they are no longer respected, and that they are ruined. Naturally they blame their partner in crime, Germany. That is after all an old habit of human nature. Adam blamed Eve" . . . A visitor from Chicago remarked to a friend who took him to a local club: "I heard yesterday that your people can water their gardens every two days. Why is water rationed here?" The friend chuckled: "Because the Liquor Control Board used half the water in Sooke Lake."

New Ruling on Church Pensions

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 7 (CP).—Civic welcome tendered on behalf of the mayor and city council of London and a new ruling on pensions for ministers were highlights of the second session here today of the 11th General Council of the United Church of Canada.

During afternoon discussions, it was ruled ministers might catch up on back payments of pensions between 1945 and 1948. Dr. E. Leslie Pidgeon, of Montreal, chairman of the board of finances, said no further leeway could be given and that any claim of compassionate action should be placed before the council and not allowed to interfere with efficient functioning of the pensions fund.

It was agreed the council should be asked to approve deduction of pension payment at the source, starting next year.

It was agreed during today's session that any minister might secure from the civil courts a legal annulment of his marriage without affecting his status as a minister of the United Church.

Dr. Victor Mooney, treasurer of the missionary and maintenance fund, announced the fund's deficit now is underwritten. He said the deficit actually will be paid off in 1950, when pledges amounting to $100,000 are paid.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill at the Esquimalt Drydock at any time, add 23.6 feet to the height of high water as above given.

Bulgaria is reported to have broken off relations with Germany.

It is estimated here that Field Marshal Gen. Baron Maximilian von Weichs, Nazi commander in the Balkans, has 20 divisions at his disposal in Yugoslavia and six divisions in Greece and the islands in the Aegean.

Moscow dispatches suggested the Russians were dropping strong parachute units ahead of their columns racing through Western Romania toward Yugoslavia for a junction with the Allies. Once this junction is realized the Germans far to the south will be sealed off and the Allies can turn northward toward Austria and Hungary.

The Soviet communique announced the capture of 3,000 Germans during Wednesday's sweep through Turnu-Severin, 170 miles west of Bucharest. In cleanup operations far behind this Red Army column the Russians took Rimnicul-Valcea, 98 miles northwest of Bucharest.

Other seized localities extended southward from Rimnicul-Valcea to the Danube, and included Dragasani, 32 miles south of Rimnicul-Valcea, and Corabia and Turnu-Magurele on the Danube frontier opposite Bulgaria.

Northeast of Warsaw the Russians seized several more localities, and German broadcasts said Russians had established bridgeheads on the west bank of the Narew in the area of captured Ostroleka, 60 miles northwest of the embattled Polish capital.

Victoria Harbor

tain Robinson continued, "we have seen ships held over here longer than they should have been. We have seen longshoremen standing idle until lumber could be collected and tallied and brought back to the ships. Several times ships have broken away from the docks.

"We have seen ships leave the port and go elsewhere to complete their cargoes." That sort of thing is not going to help Victoria build up port business," Captain Robinson asserted.

"If we don't do something about it we are going to lose a lot of the business that came here regularly before the war."

Captain Robinson repeated that Victoria would benefit most from the business of the freighters, ships of 5,000 to 10,000 tons before the war, and under present conditions ships of 10,000 and 12,000 tons, each remaining in port four or five days on each call.

COST OF TUGS WOULD NOT KEEP SHIPS AWAY

He admitted that construction of a west breakwater might mean greater use of tugs by incoming ships. For freighters the additional cost for tugs would be $25 to $50. Liners on regular call could obtain a low contract rate. These extra costs would not keep ships away and would be paid willingly for the sake of safe berths and assured loading, Captain Robinson believed. Tugs were commonly used in harbors elsewhere.

Construction of a west breakwater would make it possible to dredge West Bay and provide the opportunity for two fine wharves for ocean shipping, Captain Robinson added. "We need more space," he said.

Dredging of the present inner and outer harbors was not as essential as providing safe berths, but heavy ships would benefit at low tide, he said.

AUSTRALIAN ENLISTMENTS

CANBERRA, Sept. 7 (CP).—More than 870,000 Australians have enlisted in the armed services since the beginning of the war and have served in 28 countries, suffering more than 83,000 casualties. The total Australian casualties in five years of war has been set at 83,601, including 6,102 missing, 31,566 wounded and 26,927 prisoners of war.

The tragedy of the premature Warsaw rising draws to its climax, says The Times' correspondent. The insurgents' food and ammunition are running short, but the German attacks have not yet succeeded in waring down the revolt. The memorandum sent by the Polish Government in London to Moscow has been handed to the Polish Committee of National Liberation there.

According to Culbertson

The horrible break of trumps in today's deal made the small slam contract look almost silly, giving declarer what seemed to be three sure losers. However, with only a little help from the enemy, South managed to turn defeat into victory.

West opened the spade queen. The ace was put up and declarer tested the trump situation by cashing the ace. That was enough of that. Two trump losers seemed the nearest thing to certain, and there was also the little matter of a losing spade unless the heart suit broke three-three (which it didn't).

Declarer cashed the top clubs and ruffed a third round, then cashed the three top hearts and ruffed the fourth round in dummy. So far, all East could do was follow suit. Now declarer led dummy's fourth club, and East nonchalantly discarded his spade king. Why should he waste a good trump on a trick that his partner could win? It didn't work out that way, however! Declarer ruffed the fourth club, then led his spade. West could win this trick also—but East couldn't let him. Reduced to the queen-ten-nine of trumps, East had to ruff his partner's spade jack, and what was worse, had to return a trump to the combined ten-ace in the North-South hands. The defenders had not only lost their spade trick, but had been held to one trick in trumps!

Of course, if East had had the inspiration to ruff the fourth club there would have been a different story to tell.

Contends Forest Management Should Be Left to Operators

Says Compensation Costs "Far Too High"

VANCOUVER, September 7 (CP).—Fire protection costs for Bloedel, Stewart & Welch, Ltd., on their timber holdings on the West and East Coasts of the Island have risen from two cents per 1,000 board [illegible] Garfield Smith, vice-president, testified at the forest inquiry today.

The company spends $16 an acre on this work, exclusive of the Provincial Government fire tax of six cents an acre, he said.

The high cost of labor for falling and bucking snags, burning slash, forest patrol and spark-catchers is largely responsible for the increase.

Workmen's Compensation Board deductions cost the company $319,267 in 1943, approximately $65 an acre—"far too high," Mr. Smith said.

From 1933 to 1943, inclusive, the company paid more than $2,000,000 in income tax to the Dominion Government, and $407,488 in Provincial Government income tax between the years 1931-40.

To reforest the 4,000 to 5,000 acres they cut each year would cost almost $50,000. The new timber would not mature for cutting short of 100 years, he estimated, and the yield would be approximately 35,000 to 40,000 board feet per acre. At present, the company cuts 50,000 feet per acre.

CONDITIONAL SUPPORT FOR SUSTAINED YIELD

Mr. Smith said his company was prepared to back up a sustained yield forest programme in British Columbia if:

1. Equitable taxation of loggers were introduced.
2. Various forms of land tenure were "stabilized."
3. Forest management, including the regeneration of forest sites, was left in the hands of private operators.
4. The forest protection fund was more equitably distributed between Coastal and Interior British Columbia.

Total capital investment of his company, Mr. Smith disclosed, was $8,630,000, and 2,185 employees are on the payroll.

Broken down, the total was as follows, he told the commission in a brief: West Coast of Vancouver Island logging operations, $2,900,000 investment, employing 750 men; East Coast logging operations, $1,500,000 investment, with 460 men.

Milling operations on the Island's West Coast, $3,800,000 investment, employing 800 men; Vancouver milling operations, $430,000, with 165 men.

The company's two West Coast Island sawmills have a capacity to utilize 175,000,000 feet of logs annually, but wartime labor shortages had cut that by 30 per cent, Mr. Smith said.

The Port Alberni shingle mill has a capacity of 15,000,000 feet annually, and the 24-machine shingle mill on the Fraser is able to convert 25,000,000 feet of logs a year into shingles.

Certain waste and slabs at the Port Alberni mill are sold to the International Pulpwood Supply Co. and shipped to Port Angeles. Cedar logs sent to the Fraser River shingle mills are purchased on the open market and many are shipped from the company's logging operation at Menzies Bay, which produced 100,000,000 feet of logs annually.

WEST COAST HOLDINGS GOOD FOR 30-35 YEARS

Mr. Smith said that the company's present holdings, at the current rate of cut, will last 30 to 35 years on the West Coast of the Island. The Menzies Bay area is good for 10 or 12 years, he said.

The company's prewar markets, in order of size, were the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia and New Zealand, South Africa and some to China, Japan and the West Indies.

The United States is expected to be added to the list after this war, he thought.

The witness disclosed his company had tried out reseeding operations in the past few years, and this year had planted 500,000 trees, "which was found not too costly."

Operators, he thought, could expect to pay $12 to $15 an acre to plant trees. He told Mr. Justice Sloan, however, that it had been his company's experience that clear cut land regenerated itself from seed left in the ground after logging operations.

His proposed forestry advisory board would be selected by the Government from names submitted by groups, including the British Columbia Loggers' Association, British Columbia Lumber & Shingle Manufacturers' Association, business, U.B.C. forestry department and the forestry branch. Its chairman would be the Minister of Lands.

Saanich Reports 108 More Pupils

With 2,641 pupils enrolled in all Saanich schools this month, an increase of 108 over last year's figures, Saanich School Board last night reviewed the problem of accommodation, much of it temporary, and of transportation of pupils who live at a distance from schools to which they have been assigned.

Temporary accommodation at St. Luke's Hall, two rooms, and at McMorran's Pavilion, Cordova Bay, for primary pupils, has eased the situation to a great extent, Inspector John Gough pointed out, adding:

"These improvements are only of a temporary nature and emphasize even more strongly the need for a building programme." Two buses are used to transport Cordova Bay children to and from Keating and Mount Newton Schools, and arrangements to transport 12 pupils from Strawberry Vale to Mount View and Tillicum Schools at a cost of $1.20 daily were approved by the board.

Utilization of St. Luke's Hall has enabled officials to spread pupils over seven rooms with not more than 34 each, except for the annex, in which there will be 37 pupils.

The trustees approved a suggestion advanced by Mr. Gough giving all pupils time off next Monday to attend the "Quin Kids" programme in aid of the Milk for Britain Fund. Approval was also given the appointment of a traveling male teacher, David Franklin, and a part-time home economics assistant, Miss Storey. Miss Joan Morris was appointed to the Mount View staff.

DELEGATES ASK FOR TRANSPORTATION

Transportation for Cordova Bay children now attending Mount Douglas High School, a distance of five miles, was sought by a delegation of three. J. E. French, speaking for F. Pottage and Mrs. M. Tremblay, suggested that children be taken aboard a bus that passed at 8 o'clock, and return by car, the latter to be supplied by Mr. McMorran and Mr. Pottage on alternate weeks. The petition was tabled until trustees investigate possibilities.

Inspector Gough suggested that an alternate plan might be to transfer the seven or eight pupils to Mount View. "I appreciate this has been a perennial problem," he said.

D. McAdam, secretary, gave a preview of the district's finances in a detailed raport showing that of an estimate of $227,157, some $132,635 had already been expended in the eight months from January 1 to August 31, and $94,522 remained for the balance of the year.

Greatest single item of expenditure was salaries of 87 teachers totaling $144,932 for the year, with $77,971 already paid out. Janitors' salaries for the many schools in Saanich totaled $16,386 for the year, and transportation ran as high as $7,860 for the year. Fuel came next at a cost of $4,500 for the year.

Against this he estimated Government grants would total $62,503, with an additional $3,830 toward transportation, 50 per cent of the cost. The budget allows for all expenses foreseen, he stated.

Trustee M. P. Paine, chairman of the works and grounds committee, reported that on a detailed survey, he and Mr. McAdam had listed all necessary repairs, and recommended that major repairs include furnaces at Gordon Head and Cedar Hill; outside shelter for Cedar Hill pupils; retaining wall for Mount Tolmie, and ceilings redecorated for Mount Douglas. All roofs needed repainting, as well as window sills and some schools.

He praised the work of caretakers at all schools. The grounds were attractive and clean, and all caretakers deserved high praise, he said, with the exception of Mount View, where grounds near school had been badly neglected.

The War Today

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
A.P. War Analyst

The shape of a vast and powerful Russian-Allied nutcracker attack designed to crush Germany into submission before Winter is becoming more clearly defined with every official bulletin, although some sectors remain cloaked in secrecy for security reasons.

And the first official hint now comes of simultaneous Russian and Allied drives toward a junction in the southeast to lop off the Balkan Peninsula as Brittany was sheared away.

In the East, Russian forces capitalizing on gaps cut in the German defence front keyed to the Narew River, pushed deeper into the critical Vistula-Bug triangle north of the confluence of the two major Polish streams northwest of Warsaw. The curving Bug front is the vital link of the German line defending the Danzig corridor approach to the Baltic or Berlin.

Official reports confirm the creation by American armies of Moselle and Meuse bridgeheads within striking distance of German "West Wall" defence lines, although the exact positions of most advanced elements is still a guarded matter for military reasons. There seems no doubt, however, that south of the indicated Moselle front between Metz and Nancy, American and French elements of the Mediterranean invasion army may have linked arms with United States Third Army comrades close to the Upper Rhine.

Rumors "Senseless"

LONDON, Sept. 7 (CP).—Denying as "absurd" a Brussels radio report that Germany had capitulated, D.N.B. asserted tonight that "foreign news about reported German peace feelers or journeys undertaken by German ministers for that purpose are just as senseless as the reported capitulation. Germany doesn't think about peace feelers, nor even about peace," the German radio said. "She only believes she will master the situation under all circumstances."

Mail for France

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP).—Postoffice officials said today that postcards addressed to civilians in liberated France now are being delivered, and they believed that deliveries would be made within Paris almost immediately.

Women Must Weep

A grief-stricken woman weeps bitterly over the grave of one of the 27 Maquis (French guerrilla patriots) who were executed en masse by the Germans at St. Pol de Leon, France. The Maquis staged a premature uprising and attempted to subdue the German garrison. But their gallant attempt failed and swift death followed.

Appoints Envoys

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP).—Pierre Dupuy, former charge d'affaires to the Allied Governments in London, has been appointed charge d'affaires to the Canadian Embassy in Brussels, it was announced today on behalf of Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Thomas A. Stone has been appointed charge d'affaires to the other Allied Governments in London. They include Norway, The Netherlands and Yugoslavia.

SERVICE WIVES TO MEET

Victoria's service wives will again meet at the home of Mrs. Pattison, 703 Pine Street, tonight at 8 o'clock, to further discuss the housing situation and possible remedies. Following last meeting a delegation visited R. W. Mayhew, M.P., asking his support in their fight to obtain Government help to better housing for service families, in order that they may have a home ready for their husbands and fathers when they return from overseas.

Hirihito Warns Japanese Diet

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP).—Emperor Hirohito warned the Japanese Diet today that the war situation was "becoming more intense" and Premier Gen. Kuniaki Koiso said the empire must concentrate its total power to combat mounting Allied attacks and possible invasion.

Domei News Agency broadcasts from Tokio reported these developments at the opening session of Japan's lawmakers.

The Emperor, appearing in military uniform, said relations between Japan and the occupied countries were strengthening and that "the construction of Greater East Asia is progressing step by step."

"However," he said, "the counter-offensive of the enemy is becoming increasingly fierce and the war situation is finally becoming more intense. Truly today is the time for Imperial Japan to decide the victory by massing her total strength."

Premier Koiso, making his first speech to the Diet since he took over the Government from Gen. Hideki Tojo last July, said that "in the face of the present grave situation the existence of a single idle person or a single bystander, regardless of age or sex, cannot be tolerated."

He demanded maximum effort under Japan's total mobilization plan and declared the rise or fall of the empire and "the life or death of the Yamato (Japanese) race" were at stake.

POSTPONE OIL HEARING

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7—(AP).—Chairman Tom Connally announced today that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has decided to postpone hearings on the recently-negotiated Anglo-American oil agreement until after the November election. In a statement, Senator Connally asserted it would be difficult to conduct a public inquiry in the absence of a quorum of members.

Use of Footpaths Endangers Pupils

Pedestrians using short cuts across Mount View High School grounds are endangering the children who use the football field, it was reported last night at the Saanich School Board meeting. It has been found necessary to place signs on the grounds requesting that pedestrians do not cross the football fields.

Paths are being worn down and may cause an accident to boys running across the field when playing, Councillor K. W. Richmond attended the meeting and discussed ways of preventing continued traffic. Trustee Mrs. E. M. Bryce reported she had inspected the field and found it unsafe for the children.

Tells Balkans

This war will soon be over and when it is over you may be certain that war criminals, no matter what their nationality, will be punished.

If you are misguided or badly informed persons or organizations in the Balkans who have in the past, through error, worked against the real interest of the Allies, let them desist now before it is too late.

The day of reckoning with the Germans, and those who assist the Germans, is at hand. You have had your warning.

ROMANIA NOW AT WAR WITH HUNGARY

BUCHAREST, Sept. 7 (AP). — Romania now considers herself at war with Hungary as a result of Hungarian participation in a German attack in Transylvania, the Romanian Foreign Ministry announced tonight. (Hungary already had declared war on Romania.)

The foreign ministry said that the Romanian Government had hoped Hungary would take the initiative "in recognizing the injustice" of the 1940 Vienna award whereby Germany gave the northern part of Transylvania to Hungary.

However, the declaration said, Hungary refused to give up the land and indicated its solidarity with the Germans by joining a German drive which has reached the Turnava Mare River.

The Turnava Mare is 50 miles northwest of Brasov, Transylvanian city held by the Romanians and Russians.

YUGOSLAV INVASION BEGAN WEEK AGO

ROME, Sept. 7 (AP).—Allied land troops began an invasion of Yugoslavia a week ago, penetrating that country from the Adriatic Sea to the west in co-operation with Marshal Tito's Partisans and striking toward a junction with the Red Army thrusting from the east along the Romanian frontiers, it was officially disclosed tonight.

The goal of the "land forces of the Adriatic," official designation of these fresh units hurled against Germany's collapsing Balkan fortress, is to seal off all German troops in the lower Balkan Peninsula.

Co-ordinated Allied naval forces have cut swaths through dwindling German shipping along the Dalmatian coast, and Allied airmen have wrecked key German rail escape routes, said the announcement by Gen. Wilson's headquarters.

Demolition of one railway caused the derailment of a German troop train and the killing or wounding of more than 1,000 of the enemy.

An Allied junction with the Russians would be the first of the war. The statement did not disclose how far inland the Allies were, nor did it give any details about where they landed for their march through mountainous Yugoslavia. Whether Canadians were participating in the ground operations was not known.

The Allied troops, however, are operating "in the north," the statement said, and have cut enemy lines of communication.

Allied commando units have been raiding German-held islands off the Yugoslav coast between Albania and the port of Fiume for months.

Quebec Conference

It comes with three of Hitler's satellites, Romania, Bulgaria and Finland, suing for peace and with the first two already having broken with Germany. Peace missions from Romania and Finland are now in Moscow and Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill are certain to be kept informed of all developments before terms are signed.

One of the knottiest problems facing the President and Prime Minister is the question of Poland, with both the United States and Britain standing behind the Polish Government in London while Russia supports the rival Polish Committee of National Liberation, already set up in Poland.

The fate of half a dozen kings and royal families of Europe hung in the balance, too, as the leaders of the two great democracies prepared to confer—Michael of Romania, Peter of Yugoslavia, Leopold of Belgium, Simeon of Bulgaria, George of Greece, Haakon of Norway, Zog of Albania, and the House of Savoy in Italy.

Only Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands appeared absolutely certain of holding her crown, although there has been little opposition to Haakon and he generally is expected to stay.

In this royal whirligig the feelings of Communist Russia toward the kings of the countries which are likely to be under Soviet influence—notably Bulgaria, Romania and Yugoslavia—are sure to be a factor.

Delirious Welcome Accorded Liberators

Paris City of Beautiful Women

By JUDY BARDEN
North American Newspaper Alliance

PARIS, Sept. 7.—First things that impress you about Paris are the perfume and the women. They both grow lovelier and lovelier the deeper you get into the boulevards.

The women's clothes get sharter and smarter until you hate your uniform and long to put on eight-inch heels, short, pleated skirts and colorful georgette blouses.

Never have I seen such beautiful women. Never have I seen such gorgeous hair styles. They pile their hair as high on top as they can make it. Few of them have natural-colored hair. It is all either jet black, very blonde or bright red. Somehow, with their clothes and two-inch-long, brightly colored earrings, in Paris this doesn't look out of place.

I came in last night by jeep and was mobbed; no film star ever had a better reception. I gave autographs and I gave away all my cigarettes, soap and candy. Paris had not seen any of these things in a long time. Their gratitude and joy were overwhelming.

I had great difficulty getting to the hotel.

That was yesterday. Today I walked the streets of Paris. I bought a hat and some perfume. You should see the hat, it is akin to a three-tiered wedding cake in black, with masses of georgette hangings down the back. I shall never wear it, but it was fun to buy. It was fun to try on hats of all shapes, sizes and descriptions created in Paris.

THE GREAT JOIE DE VIVRE

Paris does something to you. It makes you crazy to dye your hair and go wild. Even the British go crazy in Paris and forget formal introductions. Girls, every one beautiful—there simply aren't any plain women here—rush up and kiss you, put flowers in your hair and behind your ear. Musicians play to you in the street while you drink in the open air cafes. They don't want money; they are doing this for the sheer joy of the thing.

Sitting in the cafe, I watched hundreds of beautifully clad women pass. One I noticed was chewing candy and another black bread. I asked how these women could still look so wonderfully dressed.

"Most of them make their own clothes," I was told.

The Germans who came here brought their own women whom the French called "Gestapets" and described as "white mice," they were so dour and frightened looking.

There is so much to tell about Paris. As I sit here I can see three girls on the balcony facing my window. They are dressed in red, white and blue, respectively, with long flowery earrings to match. They are waving and throwing kisses to the G.I.'s in the street below with the G.I.'s responding in the usual manner, no matter what the country, whistling, whoopeeing and generally making a row. England didn't understand this, but France does.

The girls have gone. I guess they are on their way down stairs to meet the G.I.'s in the street—that's the way it goes. Nobody needs introductions, nobody speaks the same language, but everybody understands that everybody else is happy. As one G.I. said to me today: "If you walk alone in Paris, you're just an exhibitionist."

Jeeps, command cars and trucks are filled with French girls pulling out G.I.'s dog tags and gazing at them in wonderment. It is funny to see the non-French-speaking doughboys explain with hands, eyebrows and even feet what the dog tags mean.

All the French ride bicycles or go about in horse-drawn cabs. Girls with inconceivable amounts of leg showing pedal away down the main streets with their skirts billowing in the breeze and still looking graceful and dignified. Those sitting in the cabs wave and cheer as the liberators go by.

PARIS IS WONDERFUL

It is impossible to walk ten yards without having your hand shaken or being kissed and told that you are a liberator. It is impossible, even in uniform, to dress without flowers in your hair.

Paris is wonderful. Only a few bullet holes in shop windows tell the story of the battle for this city. Flags drape every window and flowers are strewn in all the streets. Parisians firmly believe the war is ended and that the Germans are finished.

Today, a Frenchman whom I met yesterday, brought me a bouquet of flowers. When I offered him a can of coffee tears filled his eyes.

"I am not a beggar," he said "but I haven't had coffee in four years."

He is married to a girl from New York who has been in an internment camp since the Germans occupied Paris. Now she is free.

"When my wife sees this coffee," he said, "she will come personally to thank you tomorrow."

There is still some sadness in this city, but the French don't show it. Their spirits are high. The shortage of food—food is scarce here—is something they can forget. They are liberated and they can celebrate with wine. They do and we are helping them right now.

A delirious welcome was accorded the British forces by this pretty native girl of Gisors, France, when the British armor driving towards Amiens liberated the French town. She greets her liberators with a cheer and "thumbs up!"

Book Commemorates Work of Engineers

VANCOUVER, Sept. 7 (CP).—Grace Melvin, well known Vancouver artist, has completed a Book of Remembrance for the Military Engineers' Association of Canada which will shortly be sent to Ottawa and eventually will find its place in St. Paul's Cathedral, London.

The beautifully bound and illustrated volume contains the names of the 2,004 Canadian engineers who fell in the First Great War.

For more than two years Miss Melvin, head of the department of design at the Vancouver Art School, has devoted her leisure time to working on the designing, lettering and illuminating of the book. Bound in red English morocco, the 40-page volume measures 19 by 14 inches. On the front cover a large cross is modeled in relief with lettering and an intricate badge stamped in gold on the red leather.

Miss Melvin, who specializes in illumination design and lettering, was designer of the handsome illuminated address presented by the City of Vancouver to King George and Queen Elizabeth when they visited here in 1939.

The Book of Remembrance will be placed in a niche in St. Paul's Cathedral specially reserved for this Dominion. It will be one of the duties of the custodian of the Cathedral chapel to exhibit the volume to relatives of those whose names appear in it.

Modern Tom Thumb Like Large Doll

By KATHLEEN REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER, Sept. 8 (CP).—A grey-eyed, eight-year-old boy from Prince Rupert, B.C., may become known as the smallest midget in the world.

Dickie Sorensen, who came to Vancouver on a visit and reaped more newspaper publicity than any Hollywood pin-up girl, is unperturbed by his popularity. He isn't the least bit shy of strangers and accepts the fact that he may be the tiniest person on earth.

Young Dick will meet you with a shrewd grin on his Puckish face, then scrambling up to sit beside you he'll talk about his 11-year-old sister and baby brother back home. Perhaps he'll even show you the pictures he likes to draw and color.

"Want me to draw a picture of a man?"

I gave him an ordinary pencil—he found it a little clumsy to handle as it was exactly the length of his forearm.

Like other eight-year-old boys, this blond mite of a lad is fond of dogs and horses but dislikes girls—especially those around his own age who insist on calling him "Baby" and putting him in their doll buggies. You see Dick only weighs 11 1-2 pounds and is exactly 29 inches tall—the same size as those round-eyed dolls that grace department store toylands at Christmas time.

WEARS BABY SHOES

The son of Norwegian parents of normal stature, Dick's hands are smaller than those of his five-month-old brother who weighs 21 pounds. Even his size two baby shoes are too big for him. Weighing only two and a half pounds at birth, Dick has neither grown nor gained weight in the last three years.

Chief worry of Mrs. Sorensen, Dick's mother, is the youngster's education. "The authorities won't let him go to the Prince Rupert public school because of his size," she said. "And we can't afford to get him a private tutor."

However tiny Dick isn't fretting about school. Although he likes drawing, reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic never have appealed to him.

He won't listen when his sister reads him stories, Mrs. Sorensen said. Instead he begins telling her stories. Dick has a vivid imagination and loves to make up all kinds of small-boy adventure yarns.

This young Tom Thumb doesn't mind living in a huge world peopled with giants. He knows his limitations and isn't afraid of anything or anyone. And as soon as he gets back to Prince Rupert his mother and father have promised to buy him a pony because Dick wants to learn how to ride.

BALLYMENA, Northern Ireland (CP).—A modern version of David and Goliath was enacted here when young Samuel Rogers, chased by a bull, killed the animal with a well-hurled stone to the forehead.

Journey's End—And Cheery Greetings Awaiting

As the hospital train pulls into the C.P.R. station at Vancouver, bringing wounded men home from the battle-fronts, the whole organization of the Red Cross Society, and also the Canadian Legion in Vancouver, are ready to help make their arrival as happy and comfortable as possible. As the train slides to a stop, stretcher cases are moved directly into the reception centre, where relatives are waiting to greet the returning men, and Red Cross Corps girls ready with that welcoming cup of coffee and cigarettes.

Urges Generous Support in Community Chest Campaign

Generous acknowledgment of the work made possible through the Community Chest, and a sincere and vigorous appeal to further support through the forthcoming campaign from September 18 to 28, were made by Miss Elizabeth Smellie, C.B.E., R.R.C., LL.D., to members of Rotary Club at the luncheon meeting held Thursday at the Empress Hotel, with President J. A. Craig as chairman.

"Community Chest campaign offers Canadians an opportunity to share in democracy," said Miss Smellie. "Social agencies draw up the programme, which the Community Chest accepts. We do not apologize for campaigns, we know it must be done. Voluntary giving is a cherished Canadian privilege."

Work of the Victorian Order of Nurses, of which Miss Smellie is chief superintendent, was outlined to the meeting. That the V.O.N. has a definite objective in caring for people in their own homes, without regard to race or creed, was emphasized by the speaker. She asserted the rule that the recipient pay for service rendered, even with a small fee, encourages self-respect, and the patient realizes they are receiving the best qualified assistance.

Miss Smellie referred to the V.O.N. as a "pooling of effort, with a constitution so elastic, that it can be adapted to local or general conditions."

The speaker outlined the various avenues through which the money accumulated through the Community Chest is diversified for the benefit of the community; funds finance social welfare, agencies, youth training centres, hospitalization and care of children.

Refuting the suggestion that money being widely circulated there was less need this year for the Community Chest than in previous years, Miss Smellie supported her contention by referring to the numerous cases of juvenile delinquency, unmarried mothers, and the often weakened structure of the home, caused through separation when the husband and father is serving his country. From her extensive background and drawing from her nursing days overseas when she was Matron-in-Chief, Miss Smellie told of many comforting letters sent by the V.O.N. to anxious relatives in the forces whose morale was strengthened by the reassuring news from home.

Accompanied by Mrs. Kenneth Barr, secretary Social Agencies, Miss Smellie was thanked by Chairman Craig and presented with a corsage bouquet.

Red Cross Asks More Supplies

From the busy fingers of Red Cross workers throughout British Columbia, thousands of articles must flow during the next few months to keep the quota of this province up to its mark. New requests for hospital comforts have been received by the provincial work chairman and workers are asked to make these as soon as possible, as such supplies are being called for in increasing quantities.

During five years of war, British Columbia workers have turned out articles in astronomical quantities. From the million and a half yards of material received have been shipped to England nearly 3,000,000 items, while 305,000 pounds of wool has been converted into 571,081 wool comforts.

With the end of the war approaching, workers are asked not to slacken their interest. There is still thousands of civilian items of clothing and knitting to be turned out. Thousands of pairs of socks are still needed, while hundreds of sweaters, with exception of khaki sleeveless, are still needed. Included in the new quotas for hospital comforts are 4,000 pairs of pyjamas, 400 pneumopia jackets and 385 convalescent shirts.

Be Patriotic and Can More Fruit Than Ever

By MARY P. BALDWIN
Provincial Nutrition Consultant

This year, with bumper crops of fruit and lower prices than last year, the smart housewife will can being smart, she is being patriotic as food left on trees and vines to rot, or on grocers' shelves to spoil, is waste. And in Canada, although we are better off than in some countries, there has never been food to waste. Waste is particularly taboo in wartime.

Perhaps some of your home canning didn't keep last year and you are afraid to try again. You needn't be. Two new publications of the Dominion Department of Agriculture in Ottawa give carefully tested methods which if followed exactly are foolproof. Remember, however, that it is the little things in life that count. Attention to details is important in canning. Count the processing time from the time the water-bath starts to boil (or the oven reaches 275 degrees) not from the time you put the jars in. With vacuum type jars, leave an air space and do not invert when you remove them from the oven or water-bath.

What about sugar? Some people are saying they can't can because they've used all their sugar—or are saving what they have left for grape jelly later on. Now everyone knows that you can't skimp on the amount of sugar in jams and jellies, but there are ways of canning fruits without any sugar at all. Here's an example using plums: Take about 2 lbs. plums, wash, cut and remove stones. Put on the back of the stove with 1-2 cups water to stew. Cook slowly, adding water as necessary to prevent burning. When plums are cooked to a mush, strain to remove skins and use the resulting liquid as a syrup to cover the raw plums you want to can.

The same method can be used for pears, stewing the cores, skins and any of the overripe fruit to make a syrup for the pear halves you wish to can; or, if you want to add new zest to canned pears, use plum juice on them.

For more ideas, send to the Dominion or Provincial Departments of Agriculture or the Provincial Board of Health for the following publications:

Recipe of The Week

TIPS ON HOW TO COOK THE FISH THAT DOESN'T

Spencer Method for Fish Fillets

2 to 3 pounds fish fillets
1 tablespoon salt
Cup of milk
Finely sifted bread crumbs
Oil or melted fat

Cut the fillets into portions, three to the pound. Soak the pieces in the salted milk three minutes, then cover with the sifted bread crumbs, using one hand for the wet work and the other for the dry, to keep the crumbs dry. Place in a pan and sprinkle with cooking oil or fat. Bake in a hot oven—450 to 500 degrees Fahrenheit—until fish is cooked. This will not take more than ten minutes for a piece one inch thick. Bread crumbs are used for they brown evenly. Grated cheese may be sprinkled over the top just before removing from the oven.

Sunset Scallop

Slice two medium-sized onions (or one large) and cook in as little water as possible, or saute. Place them in the bottom of a greased baking dish. Wipe two pounds of fillets or slices of any white-fleshed fish, using a damp cloth. (Cod, haddock, halibut or whitefish are suggested.) Cut the fish in servings and place them on the onions. Pour over this one can of tomato soup and bake ten minutes, or until the fish is cooked, in a 500 degree Fahrenheit oven. If the fish has been placed in two layers, the cooking time will be longer. The following sauce may be used in place of the soup:

2 tablespoons butter or fat, melted
2 tablespoons flour, added and blended and used to thicken the following mixture which has been cooked together and strained:
1 cup tomatoes
½ cup water
4 whole cloves
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt

Cook until thick. Serves 6.

Powder That Can Be Really Dangerous

No woman deliberately chooses the wrong shade of face powder. She wouldn't deliberately pick out a too-white powder to make her look years older—or one that's too pinky, to cheapen her appearance.

ism Tait, of Lever Bros., professional models follow when selecting that most important cosmetic, face powder.

First, choose your powder by its color—not shade name. Remember, the natural or rachel shade in one brand may not be the same in another. Second if you do not use a make-up base, choose a shade that is almost identical with your skin coloring—harmonizing with either the yellowish or pinkish tones in your skin. Third, if you use a tinted make-up base, you can choose a powder darker or lighter than your skin.

To avoid a "patchy" effect, however, never put a dark powder over a light foundation. Here, too, the necessity of a clean skin is important. A good whipped cream lather facial with your favorite beauty soap before foundation or make-up base produces a healthy glow that gives your make-up that clear, transparent look. Last, for extra glamour, remember you can wear a lighter shade of powder at night than in the daytime.

If you cannot decide between two shades of powder, make a half-face test, powdering half of your face with each sample. Then you can see for yourself which shade gives your skin a finer texture and fresher appearance.

Defeat and Remove Those Fruit Stains

With preserving time here again, you're sure to end up with a few splashes of juice smack on curtains and table linen. For fresh peach, pear, plum and cherry stains, first sponge the stain well with cool water; then work in a little glycerine, rubbing lightly between the hands. You can buy a few ounces of glycerine at any drug store. Let stand for several hours, then apply a few drops of vinegar, leave a minute or two, then rinse thoroughly in water. (Glycerine should be used for all fruit stains on wool or silk, colored as well as white).

Other fruit stains can be removed from cotton and linen by boiling water. Stretch the stained part over a bowl, fasten with string and pour boiling water on it from a height of three or four feet, so the water strikes the stain with force. If a stain remains, squeeze a little lemon juice on it and place in the sun to dry. Or use a chemical bleach such as javel water, first testing the material to see that the bleach does not fade it.

To remove stains of citrus fruits, such as grapefruit and lemon, it's usually enough to wash the material in warm water and soapy-rich suds. If the acid in the citrus fruits has changed the color of the cloth, restore it by holding the dampened stain over an open bottle of strong ammonia water, says Vivian Tait of Lever Bros.

VANISHING VITAMIN

The vanishing vitamin is "C." It's the delicate member of the family . . . when the heat's on it blows! Take extra special care to keep brother "C" in good shape by not exposing him to heat for long. For instance when you add canned tomatoes or tomato juice to meat soup wait till a short time before serving to do so.

QUICK RELISH

Relish supply getting a little low? Make what you have go farther by mixing equal quantities of chopped unpeeled raw apple with chili sauce or other chopped pickle. Make just enough for one meal as the apple softens and turns dark after standing an hour. . . . And for the relish tray, or for times when a quick substitute is needed, here's another suggestion. Cut red, raw apples in eighths, remove the core but do not peel. Add spiced vinegar from pickles. Let stand in a cool place 20 minutes. Drain and serve. Left-over pickle vinegar can alternate between the relish and the pickle jar many times with no harm done.

ACID REMARKS

Keep the metal inside of the aluminum pressure cooker shining bright. Adding two tablespoons of vinegar to the water in the cooker when canning does the trick.

COFFEE CARE

Good idea to buy ground coffee in small quantities. Loses its flavor quickly when not in hermetically sealed containers . . . gives a stale tasting brew for breakfast. Ever keep coffee in a glass jar in the refrigerator? Try it the next time you buy a week's supply. Knowing housewives keep their coffee pots immaculate too. Boil out with a little soda in the water to remove stains.

BEFORE AND AFTER BUILDUP

No soldier will get your blood unless its haemoglobin is in fine fettle. If you're a donor, and who isn't these days, remember these are the foods that keep your blood in shape to save a life: protein foods like cheese, eggs, milk, meat, as well as foods that supply iron, like liver, molasses, whole grain cereals and bread, leafy vegetables.

BROWN SUGAR MAGIC

Hard-as-a-rock brown sugar is one of the minor irritations of the housekeeping round. But it needn't be. Keep brown sugar in an air-tight sealer in the ice box to prevent lumping. If it is already hardened break up the lumps a bit and place in a bowl in the steamer. A simple trick and it works like magic!

"TAKE THE JUICE OF A LEMON . . ."

When only a little lemon or orange juice is needed make a hole in the end of the fruit with a skewer and press out the required amount. When a recipe calls for rind as well as juice, grate rind before squeezing juice. Harder to do it afterwards.

"DOAZY DOATS . . ."

And so should you! And oatmeal porridge is one way to do it. Porridge for breakfast goes back quite a way in the history books, but there's nothing old fashioned about it. Try it with a tablespoon of wheat germ added a few minutes before serving. MMmm . . . good!

CONSERVE THIS TOO!

Conserve the spirit of neighborliness and friendliness that makes us all help one another in the time of strain and stress. Keep it in fashion for days of peace . . . the warmth of sincere kindliness can make a better country!

CONSERVE

Conserve carefully is the word these days, and here are a few hints on how to practise it. Don't throw the oil in a tin of fish down the drain. You paid cash for good food value, so why throw it away? Again, don't buy more than you need, and use up what you buy.

Be sure "bargain" foods are really bargains. Don't leave what you have to spoil—there's a place to store everything and it's not always the refrigerator. Leave the cold air for foods that must be refrigerated, and don't throw out left-overs: think of an interesting way to serve them again.

COLD COMFORT

There's no chance that electric refrigerators will be released for domestic use for some time to come; hospitals have a priority on new ones. Now, says the Prices Board, there are only 225 left in stock in Canada, the number produced in one day in normal times. If you have an electric refrigerator, take the best possible care of it, for when firms return to civilian production it will be from six to nine months before the refrigerators appear in the stores again.

Restore Wage Rate on Mount Tolmie Buses

VANCOUVER, Sept. 7 (CP).—One obstacle in the path of settlement of a threatened tieup of street transportation systems in Vancouver, New Westminster and Victoria was removed today with the restoration by the Regional War Labor Board of wages of four Mount Tolmie bus operators to 80 1-2 cents an hour, the British Columbia Electric Railway Company announced.

The company was notified by the Labor Board that its appeal to have the wages of Mount Tolmie bus line operators restored to equal the wages of one-man street-car operators had been granted.

The board had previously ruled that bus operators on the Mount Tolmie line, formerly served by one-man street cars, would be paid 75 cents an hour instead of the 80 1-2 cent rate paid one-man street-car operators, the former rate conforming to other bus lines.

The union threatened strike action over the board's order, which would have reduced their rate below what they formerly received as street-car operators.

Charles N. Stewart, business agent for the local of the Amalgamated Association of Street-Electric Railways and Motor Coach Employees of America, said the union had called a referendum vote to be taken in the three cities affected in connection with the overall wage ruling of the Regional War Labor Board on the union's demands prior to the signing of a new agreement with the company.

The referendum vote will determine acceptance or rejection of the board's award of 4 1-2 cents an hour increase to all union members instead of an increase of 10 to 16 cents an hour asked by the union.

Victoria employees of the B.C. Electric Railway Company and those in the other two cities vote today on the board's award. On Wednesday night Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council pledged its full support of their demands.

The labor council's action was taken after Fred Davison, president of Victoria local of the Street Railwaymen's Union, declared that his union was determined to fight to the finish for what it was seeking. He said this would be done "even if it means tying up the entire transportation system on the British Columbia Coast."

Thousands in $10 and $2 Bills Scattered

PORT MOODY, B.C., Sept. 7 (CP).—An estimated $27,000 in $10 and $2 bills was scattered over nearly a mile of the Canadian Pacific Railway right-of-way here yesterday but there was no orgy of money grabbing.

A few city employees gathered practically all the bills in half an hour. The money was in the hands of postal officials before word of money-spreading became generally known.

The money, destined for the Royal Bank of Canada as today's payroll for Thurston-Flavell Lumber Company's employees, was spread over the right-of-way when the bag containing the bills rolled under the wheels of the train after being thrown from the train as it went through Port Moody without a stop.

The wheels ripped open the mail-bag and distributed the bills along the mile stretch, which is bordered by small bushes. There are few houses along that part of the track.

Kaiser Contracts For Helicopter

RICHMOND, Cal., Sept. 7 (AP).—Henry J. Kaiser, famed builder of ships, who this week piloted a newly-designed helicopter after only five minutes of instruction, said today he had signed a contract with 19-year-old Stanley Hiller, Jr., the inventor.

Clay Bedford, manager of Kaiser's Richmond shipyards and friend of the young Berkeley inventor, has become his sponsor in further research and manufacture in a Berkeley factory to be operated by Kaiser Cargo, Inc.

The new plane differs from conventional helicopters in that there is no tail propeller, the torque effect being overcome by two contra-rotating, two-blade rotors.

Steamship Undamaged When Goes on Shoals

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N.Y., Sept. 7 (AP).—The Kingston, Canada Steamship Line St. Lawrence River steamer, was driven aground on Hammond Shoals by a stiff wind today. Some 100 passengers were removed safely by a sister ship, and a salvage firm's tugs prepared to pull the Kingston free.

The Coast Guard reported that the 250-foot ship apparently was unharmed.

Rockets Assist Take-Offs

ROCKET power is successfully helping heavily laden planes into the air, it is announced at Wright Field, Ohio, after four years of intensive experiments. Originally designed and developed as a means of lifting heavy loads into the air from short, front-line runways, the rocket take-off units are doing their job. However these units may never see tactical use, as engineers have found their use to be extremely limited. Experiments emphasizing sustained rocket flight, dream of pseudo-scientific writers, continue despite problems involving fuel, weight and range. The above photo shows a B-25 medium bomber—not afire—but with flames and smoke issuing from a fixed take-off unit under test where rocket-assisted take-offs have been tested since 1940.

Set Aside B.C. Certification

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP).—The National Wartime Labor Relations Board announced today that G. R. Currier, industrial relations officer, Vancouver, has been appointed as returning officer for the purpose of taking a representation vote of employees of Plant No. 3 of Vivian Diesels & Munitions, Ltd., Vancouver.

In announcing the appointment, the board said it had decided to set aside the certification by the British Columbia Minister of Labor of the officers of the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.) as bargaining representatives of the employees in the plant.

The decision of the board was made on an appeal by Lodge 692, International Association of Machinists (A.F.L.), against certification of the United Steelworkers of America as bargaining representatives for certain employees of the plan. The ground for the appeal was that the International Association of Machinists was entitled as an interested party to an opportunity to present evidence and make representations.

Drilling of Ripple Rock Must Wait

VANCOUVER, Sept. 7 (CP).—Drilling for the removal of Ripple Rock in Seymour Narrows probably can not be resumed before next March, Public Works officials said here today. However, work can be started immediately on a $125,000 overhead cable test authorized by the Federal Government and announced yesterday.

The go-ahead signal on this cable test has not yet been received here, but is expected shortly, officials said.

Big Shipbuilding Order Is Rumored

VANCOUVER, Sept. 7 (CP).—The Vancouver Province in an Ottawa dispatch today said an additional $10,000 of shipbuilding orders is understood to have been placed with the Burrard Drydock Co., Ltd., of Vancouver.

The newspaper said the new order deals with construction of several ships of the landing-craft type similar to those now being built under Government order by the Yarrows Limited plant at Esquimalt.

No information in connection with the orders was available from Burrard Drydock officials today. Meanwhile work is continuing on the new-type maintenance ships and on regular cargo carriers.

Repair Club Glider

Repairs to the Dugling glider, second plane built by the Victoria and Island Soaring and Gliding Club since its inception 18 months ago, are progressing satisfactorily, according to Jack Taylor, manager.

The 215-pound glider, piloted by Morris Jones, crashed into hawthorn bushes surrounding Lansdown Field last Sunday afternoon. Jones sustained slight cuts and bruises on the face.

Asked what caused the plane to crash, Mr. Taylor said the 500-foot towing rope had been released before the wings were level, causing the glider to swerve steeply and become unmanageable.

Members are now busy working on a third glider and expect to complete it this year.

Fail to Agree in Strike at Halifax

HALIFAX, Sept. 7 (CP).—Union officers and representatives of Halifax Shipyards, Ltd., at a hearing before the Nova Scotia Wartime Labor Relations Board failed today to reach agreement on the question of the check-off, one of the issues which precipitated a month-long strike at the shipyards here this Summer.

Labor Minister Currie, chairman of the board, announced tonight the question would be referred to the Provincial Government with a recommendation that the Government make a reference to the Nova Scotia Supreme Court, in accordance with procedure laid down when the strike was settled late last month.

Stamp Sales Soar

War Savings Stamps worth $2,000 have been sold by Victoria druggists in the first day of a six-day drive they are conducting.

With $20,000 as the objective and with a British Columbia objective of $200,000, local officials in charge of the campaign are confident that they will make their quota, particularly as they will handle the September Civic Stamp Day when Miss Canada girls will patrol the streets.

Feminine drug clerks, clothed in the red aprons of Miss Canada, are hard at work selling stamps to all customers. Free tickets are being given for a list of 50 prizes totalling more than $1,000 in value. Every War Savings Stamp purchased in a drug store entitles the purchaser to a free ticket.

New Air Letter For Civilians

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP).—Postmaster-General Mulock announced today that special air letter facilities thus far available only for the forces through use of the armed services blue air letter, will be extended to civilians, effective September 11.

Under the new arrangement, civilian air letters may be sent to many Commonwealth countries at a special rate of ten cents.

Col. Mulock said the arrangement "may well mark the commencement of a new era in civilian trans-ocean air mail communication."

The announcement was made jointly with British postal authorities, who have arranged for a civilian air letter service at the rate of sixpence from the United Kingdom to Canada, Newfoundland and other Empire territory in the Western Hemisphere, also to civilians in Empire and British-mandated territories in Africa, Asia and the Pacific, the principal countries concerned being Australia, New Zealand, Fiji, Union of South Africa, Southern Rhodesia, India, Ceylon, East Africa and Palestine. The service will also extend to Malta, Egypt, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, Iran and Iraq.

Col. Mulock said the new service enables citizens to send special air mail communications, written on special forms obtainable on request at all postoffices, to civilians in many Empire lands at one-third of the regular tran-Atlantic air mail rate between Canada and the United Kingdom.

In the last month on record more than 2,187,000 blue air letters—forerunner of the new air letter—were dispatched from Canada to the forces overseas.

Send Resolutions To Labor Congress

Three resolutions to be presented to the convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada next month have been endorsed by Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council, and others from affiliated unions are being considered by a committee of seven named on Wednesday night.

The labor council is urging that the Government continue in control of industrial plants it has financed; that training of returned men for postwar industry be turned over from National Selective Service to veterans' organizations and trade unions, and that the lend-lease system be continued after the war until all countries are functioning economically.

Included in resolutions of the carpenters' affiliate of the labor council are the following:

That the Dominion Labor Code be amended to eliminate non-trade union employers' organizations and to make acceptance of conciliation board findings compulsory; that workers' payments to the Workmen's Compensation Board be discontinued in British Columbia as in other provinces; that income tax deductions be allowed workers for tool and automobile expenses, and that the conditions under which National Selective Service issues contractors' licences to individuals be protested.

The labor council has endorsed a resolution of Vancouver Trades and Labor Council for a shorter working day and week as a postwar measure.

Liquor Heads Hold Meeting

Liquor commissioners from nearly every province of the Dominion, and Treasury Department officials, held the first session of their two-day annual convention behind closed doors in the Government members' room at the Legislative Buildings yesterday afternoon.

The three-hour session, which started at 2:30 o'clock, followed a luncheon at the Empress Hotel. Rations, profits and postwar plans were discussed, and some form of public statement may be made at the conclusion of the conference today.

Quebec, having more liquor than any other province, and Prince Edward Island, where prohibition exists, are the only two provinces not represented at the parley.

Representatives of prominent distilleries and breweries are also in Victoria, it was learned, although several stated it was purely coincidental they were here at the same time as the liquor commissioners. Members of both groups attended a dinner at the Empress Hotel at 7:30 o'clock last night. Today the sessions will continue at the Legislative Buildings.

David Sim, deputy minister of national revenue, Ottawa, and E. McNally, deputy controller of alcoholic beverages, Ottawa, are both taking a prominent part in the discussions.

W. F. Kennedy, chairman of the Liquor Control Board; Col. D. McGugan, board law enforcement officer; A. H. Wylie, board secretary, and J. V. Fisher, assistant deputy minister of finance, compose the British Columbia delegation attending the conference.

Others are Col. W. C. Lawson, New Brunswick liquor commissioner; A. B. Mahon, Nova Scotia liquor commissioner; Victor T. Goggin, chief commissioner, Ontario board; W. B. Common, K.C., solicitor to the Ontario board; W. R. Clubb, Manitoba liquor commissioner; N. A. Verner, superintendent, Manitoba liquor commission; R. McN. Pearson, deputy provincial treasurer, Manitoba; John N. Alexander, superintendent, Saskatchewan liquor board; John A. King, chairman, Alberta liquor board; F. J. Percival, deputy provincial treasurer, Alberta.

ANSWER TO LAST PUZZLE

Town Planning Must Be Done

Town planning is absolutely necessary for Canada's cities, F. W. Nicholls, Director of National Housing Administration, Department of Finance, said yesterday on his arrival here from Ottawa. Only where there is a suitable town plan and zoning will maximum loans be available to borrowers under the new Dominion Housing Act, he stated.

The new act is very comprehensive, Mr. Nicholls said, and covered not only loans to private individuals wishing to build their own homes but also municipalities and groups interested in broader housing schemes. For one thing it allowed a higher percentage of loans depending, of course, on the value of the property. It was possible under the sliding scale followed to obtain up to 90 per cent of the value of the completed home.

This would only be possible where there was adequate town planning and zoning, he pointed out.

"We have built 27,000 homes under the original National Housing Act, housing roughly 110,000 to 115,000 persons, and we are still building them in fair numbers," he asserted.

Conversion of buildings into multiple dwellings is only a side-line of his department, he said, and the plan was now working well in most cities. Peak of the need seemed to be past in Eastern cities, Mr. Nicholls stated, but nothing could be said definitely. "I rather anticipate we will not do much after October 1 in the East, but as long as the demand here continues we will continue. I do not think we will have to continue this branch of our work for more than a year," he commented, referring to the bright outlook overseas. The Vancouver office was extremely busy and more than 300 units were in use or nearing completion, he said.

A definite upswing in recruiting in Canada has been noted since the invasion.

SAILORS DEADLOCK CITY BASEBALL SERIES, 4-2

THE DAY'S ROUNDUP

Major "Moke" Morgan, former golf champion at the old Macaulay Point course, is back home from Italy after being overseas for several years. He will be hitting the pill during his stay in the city and hopes to get in several rounds before pulling out again. . . . Was talking to Jockey Jimmy Silvewright yesterday and he was telling me that he will be riding for the first time at the Willows track. He looked over the layout during the day and thinks that some improvements could be made before the opening programme gets under way. Jimmy has piloted horses to wins at Winnipeg, Edmonton, Saskatoon and Calgary before hitting the Coast, and he figures that he can hold his own in this company. . . . Ed Battell, who refereed hockey games at the Willows rink before it went up in flames and smoke, was in the city yesterday on a holiday along with Jimmy Anderson and his wife, and they will be taking in the racing for the next few days. Ed was sorry to hear of the local arena going up in smoke and hopes that in the near future they will be thinking of putting up another building for the benefit of the public and the kids who are just coming up. Battell and Anderson handled a lot of the games on the Prairies last Winter and the hockey was tops throughout the season, and they expect to be back blowing the whistle when the curtain goes up once more. . . . Another visitor expected in town during the next few days is Harry Scott, sports editor of The Calgary Albertan, and a former hockey star with the Montreal Canadiens in the old days. He is also coming here to take in the ponies.

DIAMOND DUST

We have seen a lot of baseball, but the present series for the city title is tops for thrills and interesting baseball. Last night in a replay of the protested game, the sailors fought to a great triumph to send the play-off into a sudden-death affair for the Rithet Cup . . . The breaks often decide the issue and have first favored one club and then the other. Navy had them at the start, but they went to the Army after the first three games. Last night they were about evenly divided and the sailors took the verdict by reason of better defensive work and more fight . . . The effort of Ingamells deserves a lot of praise for the courage the youngster showed in the clutches. It is not often a club can rattle out 13 solid base hits, including a triple and a double, and manage to score but twice . . . Eddie Runge has been hitting the ball on the nose all during the series, but nearly always at some fielder, but he got two of them in between last night and forced Valentine to drop another screaming line drive in the seventh . . . Dick Latiff has played great ball at third base and is a threat every time he goes to the plate . . . Eddie Shepherd limped to the plate in the ninth and slashed a clean single for his ninth hit in 17 trips in the finals. The loss of the Indian centrefielder was a body blow to the Army . . . One feature of the games has been the sensational fielding by the Army at times when the bases were well loaded and their rather loose play at other times. They have averaged nearly four errors a game to date, with Cross and Valentine the chief offenders . . . Moe Sparrow, Navy catcher, would be a better base runner if he put his head down and hustled rather than looking over his shoulder to see how close he is to being out. Sparrow has been guilty of bad base running on numerous occasions this season . . . Bobby Wiegand looks at home in the outer gardens, but is reaching for too many bad balls at the plate . . . That Jack Walker's shoulder is bothering him is evident when he went hitless for the second straight game, marking the first time he has been blanked in two successive contests this season . . . Navy protested Restell's call on the infield fly rule in the sixth, but the umpire was absolutely correct . . . Jimmy Crosato will go for the Navy tonight and it seems a certainty that Maze will be back on the rubber for the soldiers . . . Predicting the winner is a rank guess, but the Navy seem to have the edge, with Crosato better rested than Maze, although both have been overworked . . . Army players and officials took their loss in good part and the club is to be commended for its sportsmanship . . . Both clubs also showed sportsmanship in allowing courtesy runners in the tight play-off contest when a run one way or another could spell victory . . . Attendance records should go by the boards tonight, judging from the phone calls this department received after the game.

IN THE MAIL BAG

Sports Editor,—Relative to your baseball protest problem as outlined to me over the phone by yourself, several others, and as sent to me via several clippings:

The situation is not covered definitely by the rules of baseball, but is one of the many possible baseball setups which must be governed by common sense interpretation.

The fact that the base umpire had made a ruling on the runner on the tag play at second base had no bearing on the situation, inasmuch as many base decisions are made and then reversed by the effects of the ball and strike count.

When the umpire accepted possession of the ball from the defensive player, to all purposes, the decision had been definitely rendered, the play completed as far as the base runner was aware and he accepted it in good faith. Under the dead ball rule, the ball would still, technically, be in play—but theoretically, or morally, if you wish to state it that way, it was a dead ball. The runner, by returning to his defensive position, had apparently made no effort to deceive the opposition nor to advance on to third base by leaving second base. The runner, obviously, had been entitled to second base.

As for the playing out of the protested game, there is nothing in the official rules to cover such situations, they being left, in professional baseball, to the executives of the various leagues, most leagues having such situations covered by league rules. I would suggest the playing out of the game from the point of the protest—with the bases filled with Navy runners—as a complete replay of the game would penalize the Army's lead of 5-4, which would be unfair to that team as the Army had no part in the umpire's final ruling.

Hope this explanation helps you reach an equitable decision.

Tigers Have Eyes on Flag

Steve O'Neill Has Hopes of Pennant

DETROIT, Sept. 7 (AP)—Steve O'Neill, manager of Detroit Tigers, can offer up a heartfelt "thank you" to both the weatherman and the schedule makers if the 1944 Bengals squeeze through to the American League pennant.

Assists from both have placed the Tigers in a position O'Neill termed today as providing "a great chance" for one flag.

Washouts and postponements have been amazingly few for the Tigers at home this year, only two games at Briggs Stadium having been postponed and only one—a tie game with Boston—remaining to be replayed.

As a result, Detroit, only a short hop from the league lead, is favored by seven days of idleness out of the next 11 before opening its 14-game wind-up home stand against the Eastern clubs.

"Rest is the big thing we need now," O'Neill said today as the club returned for four games with Cleveland after winning six of eight from St. Louis and Chicago.

Hal Newhouser and Paul (Dizzy) Trout, the League's two top victory-producing pitchers, have been working approximately every third day, either as starters or in relief, to win 17 games against three losses since August 1, while the club was winning 24 of 34—a .706 clip.

"Cooler September weather, plus the additional rest, should keep them in shape to go the rest of the way, with only two days between assignments," O'Neill said.

Trout Pitches Another Victory for Detroit—Blanks Cleveland Club, 3-0

AMERICAN LEAGUE

DETROIT, Sept. 7 (AP)—Detroit Tigers, making hay behind Paul (Dizzy) Trout's three-hit pitching, whitewashed Cleveland Indians, 3-0, here today to shave their distance back of the American League-leading New York Yankees to a single game.

Trout had the Indians on his hip all afternoon in recording his sixth shutout this year and his 24th pitching victory against ten defeats. He fanned Lou Boudreau and Roy Cullenbine for the last two putouts in the ninth, striking out five over the distance and walking three.

Detroit raked Righthander Jim Bagby, the Cleveland starter, for five singles in the first inning but an Indian double play cut the run production to a single tally.

It was all Trout needed, though Detroit combined three more singles with a sacrifice for another run in the fifth and shoved across another counter in the seventh.

CHICAGO, Sept. 7 (AP)—St. Louis Browns, ousted from the American League lead Monday after more than three months' occupancy, fought their way back into a tie with the idle New York Yankees tonight by rallying for three runs in the ninth inning to defeat the Chicago White Sox, 5-4. The co-leaders are one game ahead of Detroit Tigers, who shut out Cleveland, 3-0, this afternoon. A single, with the bases filled, by Mike Chartak, Browns' out-fielder subbing at first base for the slumping George McQuinn, lashed home the two tying runs with one out in the ninth and moved Vern Stephens from first to third. He scored the winning run on Gene Moore's fly to Left-Fielder Eddie Carnett.

Marty Marion, who had walked, was on third with two out when Don Johnson fumbled Augie Bergamo's grounder. Marion came in with the tying score. Johnny Hopp singled and Bergamo went to third, scoring the winning run on Bob Chipman's wild pitch.

Five-and-a-Half-Furlong Dashes to Be Staged at Willows—Start Tomorrow

Horsemen with steeds which failed to maintain their speed at seven furlongs on the Lower Mainland this Summer will get a chance when Victoria's racing season opens at the Willows to start their horses at a shorter and more suitable distance.

Provision has been made for a few five and one-half furlong dashes during the 14 racing days and those fellows with the odd sprinter in their stables are anticipating the forthcoming session at Oak Bay with considerably more enthusiasm than they evinced at Hastings Park.

But while some sprint heats have been carried, Racing Secretary Bill Jones does not intend to pass any opportunity to provide races at a mile or over. He knows the public appreciate the long distance events more than any other kind of contests and, as a result, has billed three of these for the curtain raiser.

Topping the bill is the Saanich Handicap at a mile and this is expected to attract such outstanding stars as Rohrico and Hi Bythia, the Bain entry, Palace and Naffworth from Bill Lochead's stable, Mesmerist, newcomer from the Prairie, Kinsail, Maid of Broxa, Pilgrim's Pride and several others. Supporting the handicap are a mile and sixteenth and mile and seventy yards races with two at five and a half furlongs and as many more at six furlongs and thirty yards.

These latter events will start from the chute at the head of the stretch.

All arrangements for the opening have been completed and when the first field goes on its way at 3 o'clock the ponies will be running on a racing strip which is considered to be one of the finest in Canada.

Alex Haller, one of the outstanding British Columbia riders, will not be seen in action at Saturday's opening but is expected to report Monday. The sympathy of all horse fans, jockeys and horsemen has been extended to the popular Kamloops rider. His mother died in Vancouver Thursday morning following a serious illness which confined her to hospital throughout the Summer months.

Batteries: Horton, Stein (3), Phipps (7), Rager (8) and Fernandes; Smith, Blanton (8) and Hill.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 7 (AP)—The Portland Beavers swept a double-header from the Sacramento Solons here tonight, taking the seven-inning opener, 3-2, and pulling out in front in a 13-11 slugfest in the nightcap.

Second game	R.	H.	E.
Portland .....305 031 100—13	21	2
Sacramento ...252 020 000—11	18	2

Batteries: Heiser, Windsor (2), Pieretti (5) and Adams; Powers, Penrose (6) and Marcucci, Steiner (6).

Ingamells Hurls Navy to Neat Win Over the Soldiers

Right-Hander Turns in Fine Performance Before Big Crowd—Final Game Tonight

A fighting Navy baseball club, rallying behind a courageous mound effort by Jimmy Ingamells, last night at the Royal Athletic Park deadlocked the Rithet Cup play-offs at three games each when they hung on to register a 4-2 triumph over the Army before 3,000 howling spectators in a tense and action-packed contest.

The final game of this thrilling series will be played this evening at the Royal Athletic Park at 6 o'clock when, barring the possibility of a tie game, the city championship will finally be decided. Jimmy Crosato will toe the rubber for the Navy, and Tony Maze, who failed to go the distance last night, is the mound choice for the troops. League officials announced that negotiations are being carried on with the Vancouver Norvans, winners in the Mainland city play-off, for a post-season series with the local titleholders.

Refusing to quit when the breaks in the early stages of the game went against them, the sailors kept punching and with a wild four-run burst in the sixth, finally came out on top. It would be hard to single out a player on the Navy club for special mention but the laurels must go to smiling Jimmy Ingamells, who didn't smile last night as he pitched his heart out for his club. In trouble every inning but one, the slim youngster was reached for 13 solid base knocks but refused to give up and kept throwing the ball in there all evening, and, backed by good support, was rewarded with a sweet victory. Dick Latiff was the hero from the offensive standpoint, the rangy third sacker driving in the tying and winning runs with a triple after two were out in the big sixth and playing a great game defensively as well.

Navy supporters were out in full force and had an organized cheering section complete with a cheer leader and noise-makers to yell for their club. With the Army supporters far from being in the minority, the noisy crowd added thrills to one of the best games played in the park this or any other year. Ingamells was literally mobbed by Navy supporters after the game and a new attendance record seems to be in the offing tonight for what may be the last baseball game here of the 1944 season.

It was a tough game for the Army to lose but they were outfought and outsteadied when the chips were down. Having no difficulty in finding Ingamells for hits, they were unable to put the runners over the plate when they were in scoring position. Army got at least one hit in every inning but the second and their lack of clutch hitting was best illustrated in the fourth when four solid hits advanced for a single run. A feature of the game was the solid hitting by both clubs, practically every safety being a clean line drive. Tony Maze started for the soldiers but the strain of too much work seemed evident as he was unable to cut loose with his pitches. Cann replaced Maze in the sixth and pitched runless baseball for the remainder of the game. The soldiers came up with two double plays at critical moments to pull themselves out of a couple of bad spots.

SOLDIERS TAKE EARLY LEAD

Army took the lead in the third when Holness and Maze rapped out successive singles and Holness completed the circuit on a passed ball and a wild pitch. They added another singleton in the next frame. Kennedy lined a single through the centre and Peden followed with another one-base drive. Valentine scored Kennedy with still another hard-hit single but Peden was cut down on a close play at third and Ingamells tightened to retire the side.

After threatening in every inning and leaving the bases loaded in the fourth when timely defensive play by the Army cut them off short of the plate, Navy finally broke through for their game-winning rally in the sixth. Runge and Sparrow led off with driving singles and the bases were loaded when Parkins bunted and the throw to third was too late to get Runge. Weigand, playing in left field, ran the count to 3 and 2, fouled off a couple before hitting a high fly behind short. Wiegand was properly called out under the infield fly rule but Runge scored and the other runners moved up when Holness failed to hold the ball. Ingamells grounded to Maze for the second out but Latiff tripled to right centre to score two runs and counted the fourth one himself when Van Hatten lashed the first pitch to left field. Cann took over at this stage and retired the side without further trouble.

Six Army runners were left stranded in the last four innings as the troops often threatened, but could not make Ingamells give up and his mates supported him with a heads up display of defensive baseball.

Prisoners of War in Calgary Police Court

CALGARY, Sept. 7 (CP).—Otto Stolski and August Kaehler, only Nazi prisoners of war ever to appear in Calgary's police court, were remanded until Monday in court today on charges of shopbreaking and theft of a truck. No plea was entered.

The adjournment was granted at the request of J. S. Mavor, K.C., who was appointed by the Swiss protecting power to represent the prisoners of war at their trial.

The charges allege that on August 4 Stolski and Kaehler, after escaping from Lethbridge camp, broke and entered the warehouse of the Western Irrigation District, Strathmore, and stole a 1940 model truck, property of the Irrigation District, which was valued at about $1,200.

The men allegedly drove to a point near Vulcan, where they were captured when the truck ran out of gas.

Nazi Vessels West Of Dover Withdraw

LONDON, Sept. 7 (CP-Reuter's).—The German radio said tonight that the last German naval escort vessels west of the Straits of Dover have been withdrawn.

The radio said: "Hitler has awarded the Knight's Cross of the Iron Cross to Capt. Otto Nordt, who was responsible for this withdrawal from the waters west of the Straits of Dover under exceptionally difficult conditions."

Will Name President

Conny Smythe in Line for Position

MONTREAL, Sept. 7 (CP).—Directors of the National Hockey League met in closed session here today and talked mostly about a schedule [illegible] the back of everybody's mind was the more interesting topic of a president for the world's top hockey organization.

The matter of a president will come up officially at the semi-annual meeting tomorrow. Meanwhile, the gossip was that Maj. Connie Smythe had an inside track if he would take the job and if Red Dutton wouldn't reconsider his retirement of two weeks ago.

It was understood that a cable had been sent to the wounded Smythe asking him his reaction to offer of the presidency, and that an answer was expected before tomorrow's meeting.

Jim Norris, of Chicago, was missing from today's meeting, but was represented by Jack Adams, of Detroit. Frank Selke was on hand from Toronto, and Art Ross from Boston, and Lester Patrick from New York Rangers.

Reports here were that the boom for Smythe was backed by Jim Norris, one of the most powerful governors of the league. The rumor was interesting in view of Toronto reports that Maj. E. W. Bickle, of Toronto Leafs, Bill Tobin, of Chicago Black Hawks, and Les Patrick, of Rangers, supported the Smythe-for-president idea and that if Norris felt the same way, Smythe was practically in.

Tobin was non-commital on his choice, except that his club was definitely opposed to any suggestion of having the league run by a committee.

Possibility was seen that, should Dutton remain adamant, the question of a president would be waived for a time until Smythe, who was severely wounded in France, had returned home.

Cards' Hopes Are in Doubt

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP).—Prospects of a new winning record for the major leagues vanished with St. Louis Cardinals' recent troubles in Pittsburgh, but prospects were bright today for the American League flag winner to come under the wire with the loop's lowest winning percentage.

If the Cards beat Chicago Cubs' 1906 performance of 116 victories they must win every one of their 26 remaining contests.

Unless one of the four contenders in the American maintains a better than .700 pace the rest of the way, the St. Louis Cardinals' 1926 low of only 89 victories and 65 losses for .578 is doomed.

New York has the best chance to hit 89 for a tie, but the McCarthy clan needs to win 15 of its 21 games. St. Louis needs 16 of 22, Detroit 22 and Boston 18 of 21 or a new club will take the backhand honor of winning a flag with the fewest triumphs.

The last time the Yankees didn't make it, Detroit nosed home first in 1940 with a 90-64 record for a .584 percentage, lowest in the annals of the American loop, beating Cleveland for the pennant by a single game.

Prospects of taking a title with the fewest victories is a new experience to the Yankees, who had won 100 or more in eight different years, 110 in 1927 for the junior circuit high.

Arrange Bracken Nomination Meet

WINNIPEG, Sept. 7 (CP).—Plans for a nominating convention were being made today in the Federal constituency of Neepawa, where Progressive Conservative Leader John Bracken will be a candidate in the forthcoming election.

It will be a month, however, before the convention is held, it was reported here. Officers of the Progressive Conservative Association of Manitoba said it was unlikely a convention would be called until completion of harvest.

In an address at Carleton Place, Ont., last night, Mr. Bracken said he would accept nomination in Neepawa.

Local Squads Will Travel

Three Victoria fastball clubs will be making a joint invasion of the Mainland over the week-end to meet Vancouver teams in a series of play-off and exhibition games.

Tommy Tuckers fastball club, still playing at every opportunity, journey to the Mainland to play an exhibition double-header with a club picked from the Heather Cubs and the Boilermakers. Gordie Perking and his Victoria Box & Paper girls, city champions in the women's section, are to meet the Collingwood club, "B" section winners in Vancouver and district, for the provincial honors, while Joe Bryant and his Hustlers intend to make the trip to meet the Mainland winners in the juvenile section for the British Columbia title.

Last night at Upper Central the Hustlers won the right to make the trip when they defeated the Boilermakers in the deciding contest of the city finals by an 8-6 score. Boilermakers took an early lead when they counted six times in the first three frames, but the Hustlers, fighting from behind, pushed over three in the third and added singletons in each of the next five innings to eventually come up with the win. Denoni and Holding formed the winning battery. Starring for the winners was Left Fielder Webster, who, in addition to collecting four safe hits, played a great game in the gardens. "Corkie" Bryant had three safeties, and Denoni and Nuttal had two each.

At the Theatres

Dominion Offers Sprightly Comedy

With its theme both timely and funny, Warner Bros.' newest comedy, "Make Your Own Bed," will open today at the Dominion Theatre. The subject, of course, is the shortage of domestic help so much in evidence since the start of the war. And, to tell their story, the astute Warner Bros. have enlisted the services of a triumvirate of fresh and energetic comedians—namely, Jack Carson, James Wyman and Irene Manning. The result promises to be one of the wackiest efforts of the season.

A superlative supporting cast includes Alan Hale as Mr. Whirtle, Irene Manning's long-suffering husband; George Tobias and Robert Shayne.

YORK THEATRE Shirley Temple stars in "The Little Princess," 20th Century-Fox Technicolor filmization of the great classic, showing at the York Theatre. It is Shirley's first Technicolor film. Richard Greene and Anita Louise head the imposing supporting cast of Ian Hunter, Cesar Romero, Arthur Treacher, Mary Nash, Sybil Jason, Miles Mander and Marcia Mae Jones.

RIO THEATRE Two names that warranted top billing during the days when vaudeville was the favored form of entertainment for the public, appear in support of Warner Baxter in "Crime Doctor," the Columbia picture now playing at the Rio Theatre. They are Al Shean and Eddie Kane.

PLAZA THEATRE Sabu, the former elephant boy of the films, reported for duty in the U.S. Army Air Corps as a cadet the week following the completion of his role in "Cobra Woman," the Technicolor picture starring Maria Montez and Jon Hall, now at the Plaza Theatre. Sabu, at 18, has had one of the most interesting careers of any Hollywood personality.

OAK BAY THEATRE Charles Boyer is Great Britain's favorite film actor. The star of Paramount's romantic drama "Hold Back the Dawn," now at the Oak Bay Theatre, received the honor and trophy for 1940 from the Federated British Film and Stage Association for his work in "All This and Heaven Too." The award is made annually on the basis of a ballot taken throughout the British Isles.

CAPITOL THEATRE A valuable document consisting of 1,000 pages of a research script now is in the safe keeping of the Naval Museum at Annapolis. The script was used for the filming of Paramount's "The Story of Dr. Wassell," produced by Cecil B. DeMille in Technicolor and now showing at the Capitol Theatre.

Canadian Power Gains One-Fifth

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP)—Canada will emerge from the war with electric power production facilities 21 per cent in excess of 1939, Munitions Department officials said today.

Despite this rapid expansion available power has lagged behind the increasing demands of industry, making restrictions necessary to assure sufficient power being available for essential war industries, but when war production slows down more power than ever before will be available for commercial and domestic use.

It took Canada half a century to build up the power system of 8,190,000 horsepower she had in 1939 and then in the five war years 1,803,000 has been added. Canada now is believed to be the highest per capita user of electric power, with electricity providing the motive force for 80 per cent of the Dominion's industries.

Greatest increase—1,002,273 horsepower—came last year with the Shipsaw, Que., aluminum development, accounting for 740,000 horsepower. This year there is a further gain of 68,000 horsepower.

More than 56 per cent of Canada's installed power capacity is in Quebec which, despite heavy needs of its own industries, is able to export about 25 per cent of its power output to Ontario. Quebec has an installed capacity of some 5,700,000 horsepower.

Ontario ranks second in installed capacity with 2,670,000 horsepower, and British Columbia—second to Quebec in available water-power resources—has 796,000 horsepower.

Coal Production

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP)—Production of coal in Canadian mines produced a total of 1,170,696 tons in July compared with 1,387,993 in the corresponding month last year, a reduction of 15.6 per cent, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

Output during the first seven months of this year aggregated 9,556,953 tons compared with 10,285,144 in the similar period of 1943.

Coal imports in July were increased to 3,240,896 tons from the July, 1943 total of 3,063,078 tons.

Salary Commission Will File Report

Requested by the City Council to more clearly define the duties of the personnel committee set up to administer the salary schedule for City Hall employees, members of the three-man commission met here yesterday.

L. A. Grogan, chairman, refrained from making any public announcement on the outcome of the deliberations, other than to state that the report will probably go forward to city officials today.

Sitting with Mr. Grogan were E. W. Ismay, council appointee, and W. M. Black, Vancouver, employees' representative, all members of the original committee which drafted the salary schedule.

GRAIN STOCKS

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP)—Stocks of United States grain in Canada at August 31 amounted to 1,322,948 bushels compared with 325,571 on the corresponding date last year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

Stocks this year included 630,884 bushels of wheat, 432,215 bushels of corn and 259,645 bushels of soybeans.

Local Wholesale Produce Market

Local pears, plums and Italian prunes are now plentiful, according to Yates Street wholesalers. Peaches, although arriving in daily shipments, still run short of the demand.

A carload of oranges arrived in wholesale row yesterday, as well as a load of California grapefruit. There is a good supply of cantaloupes on hand, although shipments from the Okanagan district will terminate in two or three weeks.

Red and white mainga grapes arrived Wednesday from California, and another shipment is due Saturday.

A large shipment of watermelons also arrived.

Okanagan table pears are still plentiful. Blackberries are nearly over for the season. Local apples are now on the market.

A shipment of sweet potatoes, the first of the season, arrived in wholesale row yesterday, and shipments are expected weekly from now on. Local field tomatoes are available in quantity.

Finance–Commerce–Markets

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP).—Financial markets got a selective foothold on recovery today as commitments were reinstated here and there with the idea Wednesday's sharpest relapse in nearly a year had been overdone, notwithstanding persistent fears of postwar reconversion difficulties.

Extreme declines running to two or more points were substantially reduced in most cases and advances of a point or more appeared in many categories at the close.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was off 2 of a point at 53.2. Of 966 issues registering 504 were lower, 274 higher and 188 unchanged. Transfers of 1,477,770 shares compared with 1,470,260 the day before and were the largest since July 17.

Winnipeg Grain

WINNIPEG, Sept. 7 (CP).—Rye futures continued to fluctuate widely on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today with new seasonal lows posted before recoveries were made.

At the final bell rye futures were ⅝ to ¾ cent lower, October at 96⅛, December 94 asked, and May 94⅜ to 94⅞.

Export trade in Canadian wheat included 400,000 bushels of No. 1 Northern for the United Kingdom and a small lot of top-grade wheat to a Near East country, traders said.

Oat futures, which have been inactive at ceiling prices of 51⅛ cents for more than a year, appeared on the board at slightly lower prices.

Stop-loss selling and profit-taking sent rye down three cents. Later shipper and export buying steadied the market.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, Sept. 7 (AP).—The wheat futures market turned strong in late trading today and moved to new highs for the session, showing gains of seven-eighths to two cents a bushel near the close.

Continued strength of wheat at Minneapolis was a disturbing factor, trade sources reported, and shorts scrambled to cover.

Firmness of wheat and buying by a prominent professional operator caused rye futures to rally sharply after they had established new seasonal lows. Early in the session September rye sold as much as 39 3-4 cents lower than the high established for that delivery last January.

The rally in wheat and rye found many local traders short in the oats pit and when they started to cover the market was bare of offerings.

At the close wheat was 1 3-8 to 2 1-8 higher than yesterday's close, September $1.34 3-8. Oats were 3-8 lower to 1 5-8 higher, September 89 3-8 to 89 5-8. Rye was 5-8 lower to 5-8 higher, September 95 3-4 to 96. Barley was off 1-8 to 1, September $1.04 3-4.

SUPERMAN — Abandoned Hope — By Jerry Siegel and Joe Shuster

YOU POSSESS THE POWER OF X-RAY VISION—?
—WHICH ENABLES YOU TO SEE THROUGH STEEL AND STONE?
YES—BUT IT SEEMS INCAPABLE OF DISCLOSING WHERE THE COUNCIL OF THREE HAVE IMPRISONED YOUR YOUNG KING...
THERE IS AN EXCELLENT REASON WHY SUPERMAN'S ASTONISHING X-RAY VISION IS UNABLE TO LOCATE RAHMA, JUST A FEW FEET AWAY!
THE DUNGEON OF SILENCE! THEY CALLED IT—WHICH MEANS THAT THIS WALL IS COATED WITH RADIUM TO RENDER IT SOUND-PROOF!
IF IT WERE COATED ON BOTH SIDES, THE FOOT-THICK DUAL WALL WOULD BE TRANSPARENT—BUT ONE COAT MEANS THAT MY MEN CANNOT FIND ME EVEN WITH X-RAY SEARCHING EQUIPMENT! I AM DOOMED... DOOMED...

SO ONE DAY I DECIDED TO GO BACK AND ASK MY OLD MAN'S FORGIVENESS AND MARRY THE GIRL!
HELLO, POP--SHAKE! I'LL MARRY EMMA!
OH, SO IT'S YOU!--I WON'T FORGIVE YOU IN A MILLION YEARS!
WHY, POP?
I WENT AND MARRIED HER MYSELF!

Film Heads Meet Officials Here

Seeking greater co-ordination between the National Film Board and Provincial Government departments, K. L. Gauthier, educational secretary of the Film Board, and Miss Helen Watson, supervisor of rural circuits for Canada, are here from Ottawa this week conferring with officials at the Legislative Buildings.

Mr. Gauthier said 78 showings of National Film Board educational pictures would be given in British Columbia schools this month. "I am seeking closer co-operation with the Department of Education," he said, adding that he expected to meet Hon. H. G. E. Perry, Minister of Education, next Monday.

Miss Watson said there were now 17 National Film Board projectionists in the province, of which three were on the Island. Two of these were on industrial circuits in Victoria and Up-Island and the other on a rural circuit.

On the rural circuits, the representative gave a show for school children in the afternoons and for adults in the evenings. Forum discussions often followed the evening showings. On 50 industrial circuits in Canada, hundreds of thousands of industrial workers saw Film Board productions and 400,000 persons a month saw shows on rural circuits, she explained.

Salmon Steals Rod For Half an Hour

When a Victoria fisherman at Cowichan Bay, Ian May, lost his rod overboard last Wednesday, he retrieved it half an hour later by bringing in a 20-pound salmon on another line, according to The Cowichan Leader.

Fishing with Mrs. A. deM. Mellin, also of Victoria, he lost his rod when a fish hooked it as he was lighting a cigarette. Patiently cruising around in the same spot, they finally had the luck to get the rod back and the fish to boot.

Many More Visiting Cars Here This Year

In the period ending August 31, 3,051 automobiles carrying 8,149 passengers entered Canada through the port of Victoria, compared with 2,040 automobiles and 5,338 passengers in the same period last year, according to figures released yesterday. A memorandum sent by the Polish Govday by G. A. Yardley, collector of customs, through Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

Automobiles from 41 of the United States were seen in Victoria. In August, 793 automobiles from 22 states came to Victoria.
